COMMONS TOLD OF TRADE PACT PROGRESS

Parliament Informed By Bennett of Satisfactory Talks With Roosevelt

Premier Makes Statement on Return to Commons From U.S. Capital Where He and President Discussed Economic Subjects

M.P.'s Launch On Heavy Week's Work

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 1.—Premier Bennett made a statement to the Commons this afternoon on his conversations with President Roosevelt in Washington last week. He read a joint statement given to the press Saturday in Washington by the heads of the two governments, stressing the satisfactory nature of the conversations.

"Before the orders of the day are proceeded with," Mr. Bennett said, "it is perhaps desirous that I should make a short statement. The President of the United States invited the Dominion to send a represenetative to the conference which was held at Washington with many nations of the world.

"Before leaving Washington the following joint statement was agreed on between the President and myself and given to the press." Mr. Bennett proceeded to read the joint statement published in the newspapers.

PRESIDENT THANKED

"I can only say further," he stated, "that on behalf of this Dominion I thanked the President of the United States with great sincerity for his courtesy and kindness extended to the Canadian representatives."

Mr. Bennett then read an address made by him in Washington on Saturday afternoon expressing the friendly relation between the nations and concluding:

"I promise that Canada will play its part in the task of seeking world recovery through co-operation with the United States and all the other nations of the world."

BOARD RULES FOR REDUCED RAIL WAGES

Two to One Vote For C.P.R.-C.N.R. Proposal of Second 10 Per Cent Cut

Heads of Unions Meet in Montreal

Senator Murdock Protests; Men in Services Affected Total 24,000

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 1.—Economic conditions fully justify the reduction of 20 per cent in the basic wage rates of railway employes, the board of conciliation which investigated the dispute between the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways and their employees finds.

The majority decision of the board, announced yesterday evening, states the cut should be effective as from to-day.

Some 24,000 men, locomotive engineers and firemen, conductors, trainmen and telegraphers, are affected and their chief spokesman, Senator James Murdock, at once announced they would not accept the findings of the majority of the board.

What action will be taken is a matter of conjecture. Two courses are open if the employees persist in their refusal to accept the cut—further negotiations or a strike.

HISTORY OF NEGOTIATION

The first railway wage cut was one of 10 per cent from the basic rates and became effective December 1, 1931. The companies later proposed a further cut of 10 per cent, making the total reduction 20 per cent, and announced it would come into effect March 3, 1933. That led to the appointment of the board of conciliation by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, under the terms of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.

LEADERS MEET

Montreal, May 1.—Heads of railway unions met behind closed doors here to-day and considered the report of the conciliation board which recommended a reduction of 20 per cent from the basic rate of pay for railway running trades. Prospects were a statement on behalf of the unions would be made public to-morrow.

MURDOCK'S STATEMENT

Ottawa, May 1.—Disagreement with the majority report of the conciliation board recommended a 20 per cent reduction from May 1 in the wages of locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen and telegraphers employed by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways was expressed by Senator James Murdock.

Senator Murdock, who represented the men at hearings of the three-man board, stated approximately 24,000 men would be affected. His views, Senator Murdock declared, were in strict accordance with a letter being sent to Grant Hall, vice-president of the C.P.R., and S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the C.N.R., on behalf of the men and signed by J. B. Ward, chairman, and B. L. Daly, secretary.

BOMBS BURST IN CHICAGO

Five Buildings Damaged; Communists Celebrating May Day Are Blamed

Damage Estimated As High As $50,000; No Person Reported Injured

Associated Press

Chicago, May 1.—The heart of Chicago's business district reverberated with the detonations of bombs tossed with reckless abandon early this May Day, property damage unofficially estimated at many thousands of dollars being done. One estimate was $50,000. No one was killed or injured.

Attributed by the police to Communists celebrating May Day, five bombs in all apparently were thrown from moving motor cars at the same time, damaging the establishments at which they were aimed, as well as smashing windows in surrounding structures within a radius of one block in each case. All known Communists were ordered arrested.

The plants attacked were the Marshall Field and Company uniform division at 424 South Wills Street, the Illinois Bell Telephone Company's headquarters at 212 West Washington Street, the Sprague Warner and Company building, wholesale grocers, at 600 West Erie Street; the Hibbard, Spencer and Bartlett Wholesale Hardware Company at 211 East North Water Street, and the Howard Willett Teaming Company's place at 22 East Grand Avenue.

DOOR BLOWN IN

At the Marshall Field branch, a huge iron door was blown back into the building and the masonry about it was torn into bits.

So powerful was the force of the explosion at the Illinois Bell Telephone Company's building that it shattered the windows on the west side of the first three floors of the Bismarck Hotel, one of the largest hostelries in this mid-western metropolis.

At the Marshall Field branch, a seven-story brick building, the damage was estimated by Fire Marshal Corrigan at $10,000. A night watchman, Arthur Mason, was knocked off his chair by the blast and Charles Brengantio, another watchman, making his rounds at the time, was thrown from his seat. Neither, however, was hurt.

Tax Prepayments Over $420,000

Running nearly $50,000 ahead of last year, prepayment of civic taxes for the first four months of the year reached a total of $420,284.09, which is approximately 25 per cent of the total levy, according to figures released by treasury officials to-day. For the same period last year the figure was $372,366.28. The interest earned by those paying in advance amounts to $16,729.44.

LOCAL BOY IS DROWNED

Francis Pike, Son of Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Pike, Loses Life in Fraser River

Francis Winson Pike, eighteen years of age, son of Capt. and Mrs. Pike, 1278 Gladstone Avenue, lost his life in the Fraser River near Mission yesterday, according to word received in Victoria this morning. He was on his first trip aboard the tugboat Chuck Walla, of the Harbor Towing Company's fleet, Vancouver.

Provincial police at Mission, who are dragging to-day for the body, believe young Pike jumped from the tug to a scow loaded with lumber, which was going adrift. He seized some loose boards on the scow, and, losing his balance, fell into the waters and was carried immediately downstream by the swiftly moving current. Members of the crew reported Pike made a valiant effort to swim ashore, but was seriously handicapped by his heavy rubber boots and the current. Those on the tug were powerless to aid.

WELL-KNOWN FAMILY

Known to his friends in Victoria as "Frank," the unfortunate young man left here only last week for Vancouver to join the Chuck Walla. His parents are now in Vancouver. Capt. Pike is a well-known tugboat man of this port and Vancouver, and some years ago swam ashore when the tug Hope foundered in a Christmas gale off William Head. For the last several years he has been master of a boat operating out of Vancouver, but has come to Victoria frequently to visit his family.

Born in Victoria, young Pike went to the public schools of the city. He was a prominent athlete and excelled in a number of sports. He learned to swim when a youngster at Foul Bay where the family annually joined the summer colony. He is the youngest of a large family. Two sisters, Mrs. Stanley Hunter, 2451 Clarke Street, and Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, 2537 Vancouver Street, as well as several brothers in Victoria and Vancouver and his aged grandmother, Mrs. Cole, of this city, are among the relatives.

ILL AND ABSENT FROM HIS POST

SIR JOHN SIMON

London, May 1.—Sir John Simon, secretary for Foreign Affairs, was suffering from a bad chill to-day and, because of his run-down condition, it was expected he would be unable to appear at the Foreign Office before Wednesday at the earliest.

He cancelled an engagement to confer with Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, who last Saturday presented a proposal for a world economic truce, and he was unable to go to the Foreign Office to be present for the signing of the new British-Argentine trade agreement.

DOUKHOBOR YOUNG HOME

Special to The Times

Nelson, B.C., May 1.—Doukhobor children to the number of 154, who had been held almost a year in various public institutions at the Coast, were returned to their relatives in the Doukhobor settlements near here yesterday evening. Their parents, members of the Sons of Freedom organization, are still in prison on Pier Island, north of the Saanich Peninsula, for nude parading. The children will be cared for by their relatives without any cost to the government, which up to now has borne the expense of keeping them in and around Vancouver.

D. R. Brankin, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, Coquitlam, where many of the children were maintained, brought the large party of them to the Doukhobor country. He said they were well pleased to return home.

About 100 of them remained at the Coast, he said, but would be brought here shortly.

BRITAIN INSISTS ON OPEN DOOR IN MANCHURIA

Baldwin Tells Commons Government Will Take Action If Treaty Providing For Equality of Trade For Nations Is Broken

Canadian Press

London, May 1.—Acting Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin told the Commons to-day Britain would take any step open to it to defend the principle of the open door in Manchuria if it should become necessary to defend that principle.

His statement arose from a query about whether the government's attention had been called to "a declaration recently made by Tetsuzko Komai, Japanese member of the Manchukuo Privy Council, that the new Manchukuo tariff would be based on reciprocity with Japan and that Manchukuo's trade door would not remain open to states which withheld recognition of its status."

Mr. Baldwin, who is Lord President of the Council, said he had seen the press report to that effect.

UNDER TREATY

"The statement reported," he continued, "is obviously in complete contradiction of the repeated declaration of the Japanese government and of the present administration authorities in Manchuria.

"Preservation of the open door is provided for by treaty. If it should appear they repudiate their intention, the government will take any step open to them to defend the principle in question.

"But I have no information to show this is the case, and I find it difficult to credit any such thing in view of the assurances to which I have referred."

BUILDINGS OF MINE BURN

Drumheller, May 1.—The large tipple and adjoining buildings of the Rosedeer Coal Mining Company Limited at Wayne, near here, were completely destroyed by fire to-day with loss estimated at $100,000.

The tipple, the box car loader and building, main and tail hoist, shaker screens and several motors used in the electrical operation of the plant were destroyed by the fire, the origin of which is yet undetermined.

The flames broke out 9 yesterday evening and fire-fighters and volunteers battled for hours before they were brought under control.

President Cerro of Peru Assassinated

Shot and Killed By Oppositionist, Who Is Killed By Guards; Two Soldiers Killed; Gen. O. Benavides Chosen President

Lima, Peru, May 1.—Peru was under a state of siege to-day as national mourning was decreed for President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, assassinated by a revolutionary yesterday as he was accepting the plaudits of the public at an army review.

General Oscar Benavides assumed his duties as head of the state, having been chosen as permanent President by the Constitutent Assembly.

Theatrical performances, movies, sports events and all kinds of public manifestations were suspended throughout the nation, and everywhere flags were at half-staff.

The new President received the immediate support of the old ministry, every member of which agreed to remain in office until the emergency had passed and the executive had an opportunity to select a cabinet of his own.

President Sanchez Cerro was killed by Abelardo Hurtado de Mendoza, who was immediately shot and killed by guards. Two soldiers were killed, and six soldiers and two civilians—one of them a woman—injured in a riotous outbreak immediately after the assassination.

REVIEWED PARADE

President Cerro was shot a short time after he had reviewed a parade of 20,000 young men in Jorge Chavez Park. The shooting was done as he was about to be driven away in his motor car.

The attack was so sudden that elaborate precautions which had been made to protect the President's life were unavailing.

British M.P.'s Score Germany

Sir A. Chamberlain Leads Conservative Revolt Against Trade Pact With Teutons

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 1.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Foreign Secretary and holder of many important government posts, led a Conservative revolt against the new British trade agreement with Germany in the House of Commons to-day.

The general vein of the protest was that the treaty gave too much to Germany and obtained too little.

The question hour had brought some outspoken comments on "Hitlerized" Germany from both side of the House and following that period Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Acting Prime Minister in Mr. MacDonald's absence, was assailed by Laborites and a few Conservatives.

DESCRIBED AS IMPUDENT

"Why did not the Foreign Secretary refuse to accept this impudent communication?" shouted a Labor member as Mr. Baldwin told of a protest the German ambassador to Great Britain had lodged against statements in the Commons before Easter referring to Germany.

"What right had the German ambassador to object to statements made in this House?" was the comment raised by one Conservative backbencher while both sides murmured approval.

TWO VANCOUVER FIREHALLS CLOSED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 1.—Two city firehalls were closed and the total number of men on duty on each shift reduced from 140 to 106 when Fire Chief C. W. Thompson to-day placed his department on the economy basis required by the reduced budget passed by the Vancouver council Saturday.

The halls closed are at Yew and Fifth Streets and at Victoria and Pandora. The apparatus in these stations was placed in reserve in other halls.

The False Creek's fireboat's crew will be reduced from six to three on each shift.

New Meal Tax Is Voted Unpopular

Hotelmen and Restaurant Owners Say Tax Will Never Work Satisfactory

Monster Petition Considered to Ask Government For Repeal of Measure

Effective to-day in the hotels and restaurants of the province, the Minister of Finance's meal tax made its debut at the breakfast table and was promptly voted the most unpopular of taxes.

The smile of the up-town diner faded as he was presented with his check carrying the government stamp.

Protest was voiced on every side and in the case of some restaurants the tax was absorbed by the house rather than antagonize a good customer.

Hotelmen and restauranteurs were as one in condemning the new tax.

"It will never work out satisfactorily," declared one restaurant proprietor. "We have had plenty of kicks and we prefer to absorb the tax ourselves rather than argue the point with a good customer."

Another owner of a down-town restaurant remarked cryptically that it was hard enough to break even now, without having added burdens placed upon the trade.

A move is said to be afoot already to circulate a petition to show the government the widespread unpopularity of the meal tax and ask for its cancellation.

Some say the government will make very little revenue oue of the tax as people, realizing they are to be taxed, will eat accordingly, and thus defeat the purpose of the tax.

There are restaurant owners who are undecided whether to absorb the tax themselves, or cut their 50-cent meal to 49 cents.

The act reads: "The person liable for or paying the price of the meal shall pay the duty thereon to the restaurant keeper, who shall collect and receive the duty as agent of the crown."

Cafe proprietors are wondering if they are expected to call a policeman to arrest a customer refusing to pay the 3-cent tax on his 50-cent meal. Or, will the government take it for granted that the tax has been paid out of the sum collected from the customer and that the 3-cent shortage is on the meal?

They further ask what is meant by non-compliance with the provisions of the act? Some of them claim the tax is on the restaurants, not on the meals, for non-payment by a customer many mean payment by the cafe owner.

The only instructions received by restaurants so far are to turn in only the meal checks with tax stamps attached. Some cases that have been checked [illegible]

LONDON SEES MAY DAY EVENTS

Canadian Press

London, May 1.—Thousands of Londoners, including many women, turned out to-day for the annual May Day labor demonstrations that centred in Hyde Park.

A long procession of marchers on the way to the park almost blocked the Thames Embankment and kept an army of mounted and foot police busy organizing traffic.

University students in the processions were more numerous than ever before. The Oxford contingent, joined by colleagues from some other schools, chanted monotonously:

"We will not fight for King or country."

This had reference to the recent nation-wide controversy precipitated by the Oxford Union and the unions of some other institutions in voting not to bear arms.

WAR PROTEST IS STAGED IN TOKIO

Tokio, May 1.—A split in labor's ranks gave Tokio a double May Day observance. Conservatives and anti-militarist radicals paraded separately.

The split was chiefly over the question of supporting the army's domination of national policies. Police prevented the radicals from carrying banners denouncing "imperialist war."

Although the demonstrations were comparatively orderly, 160 were arrested, including reactionaries attempting to interfere with the parades and radicals scattering handbills.

Hudson's Bay Company To Mark Anniversary

King Charles of England Granted Incorporation Charter May 2, 1670

Stores Throughout Dominion Will Commemorate Company's 263 Years of Service

To-morrow will mark the two hundred and sixty-third anniversary of the founding of the Hudson's Bay Company. On May 2, 1670, King Charles II. of England granted the charter of incorporation to "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading Into Hudson Bay."

In the original charter, which is still in possession of the company and is in the archives at Hudson's Bay House, London, England, full provision is made for the election of a governor, deputy governor and a committee of seven. It is interesting to note during the long career of the company how the simple machinery thus provided has been adapted without amendment in carrying out the immense project of the company during the 263 years of its existence.

P. Ashley Cooper, the present governor, is the successor in a direct and uninterrupted line of the first governor of the company, Prince Rupert. Little did Prince Rupert realize that the venture he then supported was to develop into the gigantic mercantile institution it is to-day.

BENNETT GETS JUDGE PETITION

Request of Victoria Lawyers For Frank Higgins Appointment Before Premier

D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, sent word from Ottawa to-day that in the absence of Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, he had presented direct to Premier Bennett the petition signed by Victoria lawyers asking for the appointment of Frank Higgins, K.C., as justice of the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused a month ago by the superannuation of Mr. Justice Gregory.

The petition for Mr. Higgins's appointment was started by Victoria lawyers as a result of reports from Ottawa that it was planned to fill Mr. Justice Gregory's vacancy by the appointment of a D. G. McQuarrie, ex-M.P. of Vancouver, thus leaving Victoria for the first time in its history with no resident Supreme Court justice.

RAIL DISPUTE STIRS ORIENT

Japan Army Chiefs Instructed To Avoid Clash With Russians

Manchukuan Board Chairman Openly Challenges Russia's Claim to Half Ownership of Chinese Eastern

Tokio, May 1.—General Nobuyoshi Muto, Japan's supreme military and diplomatic representative in Manchuria, has been instructed to use his influence to prevent the present wordy strife between Manchukuo and Soviet Russia from becoming more serious or involving the Japanese army. The army is charged with Manchukuo's defence in event the new state is involved in war.

Tokio officials profess confidence that chances of an actual conflict over the administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway, the joint charge of Russia and Manchukuo and the cause of the present dispute, are very remote.

A Harbin, Manchuria, dispatch disclosed that Li Shao-keng, Manchukuo director of the railroad, had informed Soviet officials in his latest communication that Manchukuo was unable to recognize the 1924 agreements, under which Sino-Soviet joint operation of the railroad was carried on from 1924 to 1931, unless revised in accordance with altered conditions.

SERIOUS TURN

Moscow, May 1.—The months-long dispute between Russia and Manchukuo over the jointly-operated Chinese Eastern Railway took on a more serious turn to-night with publication of a communique in which Li Shao-keng, Manchukuan chairman of the railway board, openly challenged Russia's claim to half ownership of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The counter-claim was advanced by the Soviet representative on the directorate that such action represents "a direct attempt to break the Peiping-Mukden agreements' governing operations of the road.

The interchange was interpreted as making more acute the conflict between Soviet and Manchukuo authorities, and followed the breaking of connections between the Chinese Eastern Railway and Russian railways on April 1—a development the Soviet Government charged was inspired by Japanese officials in Manchukuo.

REEVE FIGHTS FARM BOARD

Pitt Meadows Chief Magistrate Resists Move to Force Payment on $10,000 Loan

"Things can't go on the way they are for the farmers of B.C.," said Reeve Sherman Ford of Pitt Meadows in the Supreme Court here to-day in his fight against the efforts of the Dominion Farm Loan Board to force the payment of interest and instalments on a 10,000 loan it made him on his 110-acre farm, or outright foreclosure.

Reeve Ford brought with him the silver cup he won last year as prize certified seed potato grower and told how the Dominion Government is shipping his potatoes to every province in Canada, while carloads have been shipped from his Pitt Meadows farm to South Africa, Java, Hongkong, South America and the United States.

"I was getting $60 a ton for my seed potatoes and now they have got as low as $25," said Reeve Ford in reply to questions from Mr. Justice Fisher. "I don't know what it is like for the other farmers raising only ordinary potatoes, with the price around only $6 or $7 a ton. There won't be a farmer left owning anything."

Henry C. Hall, K.C., said the Farm Board's security was in danger, as ordinary taxes and $623.38 of dyking charges had not been paid, and Reeve Ford had not paid anything on his $10,000 loan since the end of 1929.

Reeve Ford told how export orders for seed potatoes had been cancelled and how two carloads of these highest priced certified grades had been dumped in the Fraser River.

"The courts don't take very kindly to foreclosure of farm property now," said Mr. Justice Fisher.

"We don't want his farm, but we don't want to see his taxes go behind," said Mr. Hall.

"It was a frog and mosquito pond when I took it up in 1915," the reeve testified. "Now I have a $40,000 investment there. The barn cost me $12,000 and my house $6,000. It has been a profitable producer as I could not fill the demand for certified potatoes at high prices. The security there is ample for the board. I have offered to give the board a quit claim to the farm if they would agree to let me buy it back in three years if things come back to normal. But the way it is now, none of the farmers up there can stand it."

W. C. Moresby, K.C., counsel for Reeve Ford, produced figures showing that this farm produced last year under the depression prices only $419 in all other revenue, such as from livestock, and outside of potatoes. The total revenue for the year, including that from prize potatoes, was $1,200. Expenditures for the year amounted to $1,105, leaving less than $100 earned by Reeve Ford.

The case is continuing this afternoon with other valuation evidence Fraser Valley realty experts.

DOLLAR 87 3-4 ON EXCHANGE

British Pound Closes Day at New York at $3.89½

New York, May 1.—Canadian and British currencies closed firm to-day on the local foreign exchange market, despite a sharp drop in sterling at Paris.

Sterling finished at $3.89½ on the New York exchange for a gain of four cents over Saturday's final quotation. The pound, however, was 3¼ cents beneath its opening price.

The Canadian dollar moved within a narrow price range throughout the day after opening 1¼ cents higher at 88⅝ cents. It closed at 87¾, up ⅝ of one per cent over the previous final future. The Canadian currency weakened gradually after its opening high price and at noon was down to 88. The United States premium on Canadian funds ended the day at 13.960 per cent.

The French franc was in demand at 4.67½ cents, but later it slid back to 4.64, a gain of 1-10 of a cent. Dutch guilders advanced to 47¾ cents and then eased to 47.40 cents, one cent ahead.

At to-day's levels the United States greenback was at a discount of 15 per cent in relation to the gold parity of the French franc.

Exchange rates at noon to-day, as quoted by the Canadian Press, were:
Pound sterling in Montreal, $4.33.
U.S. dollar in Montreal, $1.13½.
Pound sterling in New York, $3.99¾.

AT LONDON

London, May 1.—The United States dollar and the French franc moved erratically in the exchange market here to-day.

Inflation amendments in the United States and the farm bill brought offerings of dollars under which the rate weakened from Saturday's $3.84 to the pound to $3.94. The close was $3.93¼.

AT PARIS

Paris, May 1.—The United States dollar closed at 21.3 francs here to-day, a loss in value of 1.15 francs since Saturday's close.

In the last week the dollar has slumped more than 7 per cent and the British pound has lost 5 per cent.

The newspaper L'Information said the borrowing of £30,000,000 by the French treasury from a group of British banks last week was an important element in beating down the price of sterling. The paper pointed out that simultaneously Europe had been unloading dollars.

HITLER CHEERED BY THOUSANDS

Hindenburg Honored By Throngs in Berlin's May Day Event

Associated Press

Berlin, May 1.—Thousands of Berlin youths clamored so loudly for Chancellor Adolf Hitler that he made an unscheduled appearance before them to-day in the first big Nationalist May Day celebration.

Chief honors in the youth demonstration were planned for President von Hindenburg, who made the main speech. Hitler called for three cheers for the President.

"You are the future of the German nation," the venerable President told thousands of youngsters as he formally opened the "day of national labor."

The impressive silence with which the thousands heard the President's four-minute speech was broken thunderlike when the field marshal called for three cheers for Germany," our dear fatherland." Thunderous peals rolled forth as the crowd thrice returned his "hurrah."

May 1 was made a national holiday this year for the first time.

AMNESTY GRANTED

The Hitler government made a bid for popularity with Germany's vast army of workers yesterday by granting May Day amnesty to thousands of Socialist and other political opponents imprisoned since the national revolution.

The Minister of the Interior announced about 2,000 members of the Left taken into custody in Bavaria when Hitler assumed power would be released to-day.

The federal commissioner for Saxony similarly ordered all imprisoned Marxists, except those in positions of leadership, should be granted their freedom. The Berlin police announced intention to do likewise as the possible [illegible]

WIDOW OF C.P.R. PRESIDENT DIES

London, May 1.—Lady Mount Stephen, seventy, widow of a former president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and close friend of the Queen, died here to-day.

Baron Mount Stephen retired as president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in 1888 after several years of work during which he took a lead in the great task of completing the transcontinental line. He was a former president and director of the Bank of Montreal.

HERRIOT AT WASHINGTON

New York, May 1.—Former Premier Herriot of France was at sea, bound for home to-day, bearing President Roosevelt's proposals for the solution of world problems and declaring both sides are "now in an excellent position."

When he sailed from here yesterday the serious mien the French statesman had worn while the groundwork of the World Economic Conference was being laid in Washington had vanished.

With a green handkerchief in his breast pocket, a cigar in his mouth and a large red rose in his buttonhole, M. Herriot presided at a champagne luncheon given aboard the liner Ile de France for a group of friends, shortly before the vessel sailed.

In his final interview he said with a laugh that his title on the mission drawing to a close should have been: "French minister out of a job on account of the United States."

He explained the reference was to the fall of his cabinet over his insistence on the payment by France of interest due the United States on the war debt.

Second Series of Conferences Begins

It is considered possible, according to the despatch, that Mr. Gardiner will introduce the subject in the House to-morrow.

DEATH MYSTERY NEAR CONCLUSION

Police Forge Final Links in Clearing Up Ashley Tragedy

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 1.—Provincial and city police at Victoria are endeavoring to trace the movements on Vancouver Island of Stewart Ashley, nineteen, Vancouver teacher, who disappeared here on April 13 and whose body was found ten days later in a pool of water in Victoria.

Establishing of these movements will forge the final link in the chain of evidence needed to solve the mystery of the young man's death, officials declare.

Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, of the Police Bureau of Science, who went to Victoria Friday night to confer with Col. J. H. McMullin, head of the provincial police, returned to Vancouver Sunday. The inspector stated he had no announcement to make other than that it was believed evidence to be produced at the resumed inquest on Thursday would clear up the mystery.

Much of the evidence will be of a scientific nature and presented by Inspector Vance, who will endeavor to reconstruct the death scene.

Vancouver police completed their part of the investigation here on Friday and declare they are satisfied the young man left for Vancouver Island of his own volition and had told two acquaintances of his intention of doing so.

GIRL TENNIS STAR HAD TRAVEL URGE

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London — The reason that Mary Heeley, Britain's No. 1 woman tennis player, took up tennis was because she wanted to travel. She thought that if she became a first-class player she could travel by playing in championships.

She has won, in both tennis and travel—and has just returned from a tour of South Africa.

Mary Heely, who comes from Birmingham, is twenty-two. She is 5 feet 3 inches high, and weighs 9½ 4lbs. She has curly light brown hair, is powerfully built, and is said to be the fastest moving woman player on British courts.

Whatever she attempts she does well, whether it is bridge, billiards, dancing, sewing or knitting.

She has one weakness—sweets. She eats them even in training. And always before playing in a tournament she eats an ice.

She is expected to be the woman star at Wimbledon this summer.

Argentine Spokesman Arrives in Washington to Talk With Roosevelt; Italian and Other Envoys Will Follow

Associated Press

Washington, May 1.—The arrival here to-day of Argentina's special representative, Thomas Lebreton, marked the opening of the second series of President Roosevelt's world-wide negotiations for an international prosperity.

The Italian envoy, Guido Jung, Minister of Finance, is scheduled to reach Washington to-morrow and before the week is over representatives from Germany and Mexico will be here to take up the conversations so optimistically conducted by the Canadian and British Prime Ministers and Edouard Herriot.

The questions involved will be similar to those world-problems explored last week—war debts, exchange restrictions, stable currencies and tariffs as well as the subject of peace and disarmament and the betterment of wheat prices.

President Cerro Of Peru Assassinated

The captain of the civil guard, Fortunato Bedoya, who was wounded, said he was supervising his men in maintaining order while the President passed on the way to his automobile.

Senor Sanchez Cerro, he continued, was waving his hand and bowing to the crowd when suddenly a man dressed in black approached his car, whipped out a pistol and fired. The officer declared he thought the man was approaching the automobile to cheer the President.

FAILED TO SAVE HIM

The captain of the civil guards leaped on the presidential car and attempted to shield Senor Sanchez Cerro, but without success.

Soldiers who lined the sidewalk down which the President and his suite had walked also were unable to stop the assassin before the President was mortally wounded.

The chauffeur of the presidential automobile put on full speed as soon as the shots were fired and drove to the Italian Hospital while Premier Manzanilla held the unconscious President in his arms.

An examination by physicians at the hospital showed Senior Cerro had been shot near the heart. He died soon after being taken to the operating room despite the injection of serums and other restoratives.

Mendoza was shot and killed while still firing at the executive.

He was described as thirty-five years old and a former newspaper reporter. Authorities said he was a member of the Aprista (Opposition) Party.

The Cabinet declared a state of seige for the entire country immediately it convened after the shooting of the President. It then called Congress into session and the election of a new executive proceeded.

Gen. Oscar Benavides, a former Provisional President, was chosen to head the nation.

PRESIDENT SINCE 1931

President Cerro was forty-three years old. He was elected into office in December, 1931, after a election the previous October.

He was shot and slightly wounded March 6, 1932, at a church in the summer resort of Miraflores by a member of an opposition party. His assailant, identified as Jose Melgar Marquez, a member of the Aprista political party, also wounded nine other persons, including five women.

It was Sanchez Cerro who touched off the 1930 revolution in Peru which ended the regime of Augusto B. Leguia.

Army Vote Soon At Geneva Conference

Counting of German State Police as Part of Country's Army Is Point at Issue

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Geneva, Switzerland, May 1.—Some 40,000 German state police will be counted as an integral part of the new German army if the Disarmament Conference ratifies a decision taken to-day by its committee on army effectives.

Germany abstained from voting, thus postponing the battle to the conference if it is impossible to reach an agreement in private negotiations.

The police to be counted, under the committee's decision, include cadets and policemen living in barracks who have modern arms and armored cars. Germany says she needs this set-up because of internal political conditions.

Captain Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Hugh R. Wilson for the United States conferred with Count Rudolf Nadolny of Germany and Rene Massigli of France in an endeavor to smooth over the grave questions in dispute.

Germany's refusal to abolish the Reichswehr and accept a short-term conscription army runs counter to one of the cardinal points of the French disarmament policy.

MOSCOW HAS BIG MAY DAY

Planes Seen in Flight Total 350; Great Tanks in Parade

Associated Press

Moscow, May 1.—While a bright sun beat down on Red Square, the proletariat and the military power of the Soviet Union passed in review to-day before the highest officials of the government and of the Communist Party in the annual May Day demonstration.

From the time a 101-gun salute boomed out from the Kremlin battlements, signalizing the beginning of the celebration at 10 a.m., until the last section of shouting and cheering workers passed through the square late in the evening, Joseph V. Stalin, head of the Communist Party, and his colleagues stood on the reviewing stand on top of the tomb of Lenin.

The British diplomatic staff did not attend.

At least 1,000,000 persons, including between 35,000 and 50,000 troops of the Moscow garrison, participated in the tumultous but well-ordered demonstration.

PLANES SALUTE

Overhead 350 airplanes dropped low in salute to the traditional day of the workers.

More than a score of gigantic tanks, painted a battleship gray and mounting three-inch guns in their turrets, provided something new for foreign spectators, who never had seen tanks so powerful in previous demonstrations.

After the military exhibition thousands of workers and peasants poured into the square singing, shouting, cheering and waving endless banners, effigies and signs chronicling the progress of socialist construction.

In a brief speech to the military forces, Clarence Voroshilov, Commissar for War, extended greetings to the "workers of the world."

"In our country only," he said, "we are the masters, while in the western countries demonstrations to-day will be met with police rifles and machine guns."

He did not refer to international relations.

Commons Told Of Trade Pact Progress

ARRIVAL FROM U.S.

Appearing slightly tired but nevertheless buoyant and smiling, the Prime Minister arrived in Ottawa yesterday evening from the week of discussions in the United States capital.

"The statement issued in Washington yesterday, jointly with the President, covers all I could possibly say at this moment," the Prime Minister told reporters gathered at the railway station to meet him.

He was greeted at the station by Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, senior member of the cabinet, who led the government in Mr. Bennett's absence, and a large group of ministers and members of the House.

HEAVY WORK AHEAD

The Premier returned as the House to-day opened a heavy week of detailed work. There remain on the order paper many provisions of the Rhodes budget which may prove contentious and the estimates of several departments about which opposition members have served notice they have complaints to make.

Sandwiched in between will be the government's railway bill, which has had a rocky passage so far through the House.

There is some talk of the members speeding up so prorogation may be brought about in two weeks.

FOUR-YEAR SENTENCE

Vancouver, May 1 (Canadian Press)—George Whitehead, who pleaded guilty on April 27 to having in his possession $3,000 worth of gold which was stolen from the Pioneer Mine, Bridge River, was sentenced by Magistrate W. M. McKay to-day to one year in jail. City Prosecutor Oscar Orr told the court Whitehead had made a complete confession and all the metal in his possession had been recovered.

BOARD RULES FOR REDUCED RAIL WAGES

The text of the letter was given by Senator Murdock as follows:

"On behalf of the conference committee of general chairmen, we are authorized to advise you we are in receipt of the majority and minority reports of the board which was established on or about March 17, 1933, to deal with an application of the railways for a deduction of 20 per cent from the prevailing basic rates of wages.

"We are unable to accept the majority report of that board for the reasons set forth in the minority report of W. F. O'Connor, K.C., board member, whose report we are disposed to accept. We can be reached if any conference with us is desired at the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, on the morning of May 3, 1933."

The majority report of the conciliation board is signed by Mr. Justice G. F. Gibbone of the Quebec Superior Court, chairman, and George C. McDonald, Montreal, who represented the railways on the board. W. F. O'Connor, Toronto, third member of the board, and nominee of the men, dissents. In a minority report, Mr. O'Connor gives his reasons against a further cut.

"We beg to recommend," the finding in the majority report reads, "that according to the merits and substantial justice of the case the proposal of the companies should be approved, to be put into effect from May 1 next, namely the 10 per cent deduction provided in the agreement of February 4, 1932, to continue, and for wages earned after May 1, 1933, an additional deduction be made of 10 per cent, thus making a total of 20 per cent on the wages earned subsequent to May 1, 1933."

Dealing with the division of work, the minority report says:

"We believe—though this was not established by proof before us—that if the work available had been equitably divided up among the total number, instead of being kept for the seniors to the exclusion of the juniors, there would probably have been no distress among these latter, nor among any of the while 24,000; that by reason of those rules the juniors are really not interested in the proposed cut, only the seniors are, and they have been in regular employment at almost full regular rates throughout the depression period, that the opposition to the companies' proposal was made by or on behalf of the seniors; that in the circumstances the cut will throw no undue hardship on them."

ANXIETY VOICED

After a statement on the finances of the two systems, the majority report states: "We think the figures just given exhibit the finances of the railways to be in a position which justifies grave anxiety; also, unless further economies can be effected, some drastic remedy may become imperative."

"We think it is a matter of common knowledge," the majority report proceeds, "not only that the cost of all standard of living has declined appreciably, but also that the great majority of people in this country, from necessity, forced on them by the general situation, have lowered, and lowered considerably, the standards which they had been able to adopt for themselves in those years 1924 to 1929.

"In bearing the general economic situation has on the proposed 20 per cent cut is that railway labor, like all labor manual, professional or clerical, is a commodity which fluctuates in value. When the values of commodities generally, including other labor, have fallen in terms of money, it is but reasonable to contend railway labor also should be entitled to less remuneration in terms of money."

RULES FOLLOWED

Following a review of actual railway earnings by certain employees, the majority report states: "Clearly and definitely the situation appears to us to be this:

"In good times the numbers of the train and engine crews amount to about 24,000 for the two systems, a number of services have been dispensed with, and in 1932 there were about 17,000 in employ. The diminished amount of work is not divided equitably among the list of 24,000, but is divided according to the seniority rule, the demoting rule, and the monthly maximum rules. It is retained by the seniors; these seniors have suffered but little diminution of employment since 1929."

C.N. AND N. INCLUDED

"The diminution is meant to be effective only while the present depression lasts. Employees on the subsidiary railways—Dominion Atlantic, Northern Alberta and Esquimalt and Nanaimo—are included in the additional 10 per cent cut. Workmen on those subsidiaries were affected by the first 10 per cent deduction.

MINORITY REPORT

Totaling some 6,000 words, the minority report of W. F. O'Connor in part states:

"According to the merits and substantial justice of the case the proposal of the employing companies should not be approved for the reason that agreements or collective bargains made between the parties, employers and employees, in the years 1928 and 1929 concerning working conditions, wages and hours of labor remained and were in full effect and no notice had been given of intent or desire to change them.

"A further reason is that such agreements or collective bargains constitute and disclose a condition with relation to wages which cannot be lawfully changed unless and until after notice has been given under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act stating an intent or desire to change such condition established under that act to deal with any consequent dispute has reported and that act has been otherwise complied with."

Bridge Players Seek Olympic Honors

Mrs. T. S. Gore, has announced that for convenience the players will assemble at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon, the intervening time being taken up with seating the many contestants and with instruction in the rules for the Olympic.

This is necessary as all over the world the game will open at the same time.

To eliminate all chance of information being given out regarding the hands, it has been arranged that at every table each hand will be played before the second hand is released.

Were it otherwise it would be a simple matter for players at one table to announce to those at another that a game, a little slam or a grand slam might be made in a certain suit in the previous hand.

A par has been set on every hand and every bid made will be recorded as the trophies and prizes are not awarded for the highest score made but for correct biding as well.

At the termination of the contest, a dinner will be served at the Empress Hotel for which over sixty reservations have already been made.

Among the entries received for the Victoria section of the World Bridge Olympic are Mrs. Hermann Robertson, Mrs. Lennox Irving, Dr. Sutherland, Mrs. Gordon Evans, Mrs. F. H. OLD TIME RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

The death occurred early yesterday morning, in Nanaimo, of Mrs. William Dey, aged eighty-seven years. She was predeceased eight years ago by her husband. For the last three years Mrs. Dey had been living in Nanaimo with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dey. Prior to that time she was a resident of Victoria, at her former home, 1231 Fairfield Road. Mrs. Dey was born in Devonshire, England, and as a little girl came to Canada to make her home in Ontario. She was married in Toronto and in 1900 came with her husband to British Columbia. She resided in Phoenix, B.C., Port Alberni and in Vancouver, prior to making her home in Victoria. She is survived by two sons, O. W. Dey, E. and N. agent at Nanaimo, and George E. Dey of Victoria, and by two grandchildren. Hudson's Bay Company To Mark Anniversary

For the 263 years the Hudson's Bay Company has been in continuous operation—a record unequaled by any commercial institution. During the whole of that time the company has rendered invaluable service to Canada and the British Empire. It is in commemoration of these 263 years of service that the company's ten stores from Winnipeg to Victoria are now holding special anniversary sales.

OUTLINES HISTORY

"I have always contended," says Dr. R. G. MacBeth, "after some intensive efforts to study the records of time, thta the main reason for the continuance of the Hudson's Bay Company was the high character of its employees on the wide fields of the north and west of British America, the great sphere of its activities in trade. Neither Prince Rupert, the first governor, nor Marlborough, his successor, excite our admiration for their personal characteristics, apart from their undoubted brilliance as military leaders. They were attracted by the sheer love of adventure and the desire to obtain added means for their method of living. They gave some social prestige to the company by their rank, although the active administration was in more capable and reliable hands. But the real battle for existence and for increasing trade was fought out on the wide plains of the northwest, by the hardy, dependable, courageous men from the highlands and the islands, who were strangers to luxury and ease of living.

"Two extraordinary facts emerge in the history of the two centuries from 1670 to 1870, when men of this type were in practical control of operations in governing and in trading to the extent of many millions over half a continent. The first is that the government was so paternal that there was no revolt against it during all those years. The second is that, though individual employees of the company were scattered over a vast domain, with only themselves to check their own activities, there was never a case in 200 years of what is now called graft and misappropriation. If these two facts are properly and deeply considered, one has no difficulty in seeing that human society is just what the character of its individual units make it. This principle carries within it the solution of practically all the social problems of any age or period.

"A new country like ours must keep alive its traditions for inspection, and one of the traditions is the history of the ancient company, which has been interwoven with our records for more than two centuries and a half."

SECOND INQUEST MAY BE HELD

Vancouver, May 1.—Further investigation by Police Chief John Cameron establishes that Mrs. Merdina Griffiths, whose body was found in the Fraser River near the Marpole bridge April 19, was last seen at 10 p.m. March 10, the evening she disappeared, instead of 6 p.m. on that day as first believed.

Chief Cameron and Coroner W. D. Brydone-Jack will confer to-day regarding a second inquest on the death. The automobile she was driving when seen last was recovered from the river beneath the Marpole bridge, and investigators believe she plunged to her death over the open draw.

NEW PLACE FOR U.S. IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Singleness of Purpose in Shaping Policies Foreseen As Result of Roosevelt Taking Dictator-like Powers

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, May 1.—To President Roosevelt accrues more and more power over the domestic affairs of the United States as he lays his hand on the banks, the currency, hydro-electricity, farms, probably railroads, hours of labor and wages. If he is able to justify his assumption of control by results satisfactory to the people of the United States a peculiar situation will present itself in world affairs.

The United States for the first time will be able to move as a unit in the international field.

WILSON'S EXPERIENCE

The last time a President, and a Democrat, Woodrow Wilson, tried to break through the iron ring of isolation sentiment set up in a self-contained and wealthy land by a pioneering people, there was such an upsurge of national exclusiveness as to turn a hero into a victim.

The Senate, like Spartan parents, impolitely exposed the infant League of Nations, brain child of its own President, to the elements, and rightly so according to sentiment which animated the voters at that time.

Since its development as a world power the United States, because of the separation of its legislative and executive government arms, has never been able to operate in the international field save in case of war, with freedom or boldness or with any singleness of purpose.

For example: When it came to a case of saving the financial situation three years ago President Hoover had to summon the leaders of Congress to come by airplane to get their consent to his moratorium on war debt payments. Although the necessity of the move was obvious to the most unlearned student of international affairs, there was a terrific hullabaloo in Congress and resultant unfavorable reaction in various parts of the United States.

Congress has always been more isolationist than not. It has always worked—the agricultural west against the manufacturing northeast, the old south against the north—in a mass of conflicting interests heading up only in one general sentiment against having to do with the rest of the world. As a result the only consistent policy has been to raise tariffs to protect the manufacturers, to protect the farmers, or to protect somebody else.

Mr. Roosevelt is not an isolationist. Arthur Brisbane, the columnist, deplores a tendency on the part of Washington to mingle in world affairs as Mr. Roosevelt solemnly assures newspapermen this is no time to be exclusive.

But, that the President so soon after inauguration invites to Washington leaders of other nations, that he suggests to Europe the United States may enter a consultative pact to prevent war, would not be of such importance, observers point out, were he not simultaneously gradually assuming the position of a dictator over Congress and the economic structure of the country.

NEW AGREEMENT

With control over the dollar and silver, Mr. Roosevelt should be able to make a dicker for stabilization of exchange; controlling acreage, an agreement on wheat seems possible; a whip hand over Congress indicates the ability to make tariff deals.

If results in the domestic field enable him to maintain the dictatorial position he is now taking, Mr. Roosevelt will have the power to make the United States a leader in international politics as it has long been in finance and commerce.

STORE ROBBED

Vancouver, May 1 (Canadian Press)—A shotgun bandit, who held up the Red and White Store at 3870 West Sixteenth Avenue Saturday evening, obtained $85, according to a report made by J. Barry, manager, to the police on Sunday.

NEW GOLD RULES ISSUED IN U.S.

Industries Needing Precious Metal Able to Secure Supplies

Associated Press

Washington, May 1.—Regulations governing the distribution of gold to industries having legitimate uses for it were issued to-day by the United States Treasury a few hours before the expiration of the time set for all gold other than small individual sums to be turned in to the government.

The regulations outline the method by which persons legitimately needing gold may obtain it and provide no collector of customs may permit exportation of gold unless the person sending it abroad turns over to him a license issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to permit the transaction.

Persons needing gold for legitimate purposes may file an application to purchase such quantities as are required. The Federal Reserve Bank, if satisfied the gold is necessary to the applicant's business, may permit him to purchase it on payment of an equivalent amount of coin or currency issued by the United States.

D. McPherson, former Liberal member will be probable choice in Grand Forks. Among those mentioned as possible candidates in Trail-Rossland are Glenza Pitt, Rossland; Donald McDonald and L. F. Tyson, Trail.

COL. LINDBERGH MAY TESTIFY

Reported He Will Give Evidence at Ransom Conspiracy Trial in Washington

Washington, May 1.—According to The Washington Sunday Star, there are official indications Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will testify personally here in the ransom conspiracy trial of Gaston B. Means and Norman T. Whitaker and describe details of the tragic abduction of his first son.

Two conspiracy indictments have been returned against Means and Whitaker. One charges the pair with conspiring to defraud Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, estranged wife of the owner of The Washington Post, of $104,000 for the return of the Lindbergh baby.

The other indicement, returned about two weeks ago, charges them with attempting to defraud Mrs. McLean of $35,000, which she says she wkas asked to putu p to reimburse the abductors for marked money laid by Dr. John F. Condon, described by the pair as "hot money," since the serial numbers of the bills had been recorded.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh are now in California on an airplane trip, and according to The Star, they are expected to fly back here in time for the opening phases of the trial, set to begin May 8 in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

TWO VANCOUVER BANDITS FOILED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 1.—Two bandits failed in an attempt to hold up J. Hunter, night clerk, in the office of the St. Regis Hotel at 602 Dunsmuir Street at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

The men entered the office and found Mr. Hunter alone. One of them covered him with a revolver and ordered him to hold up his hands. Instead of doing so the clerk shouted for help and the second robber attacked him, striking him in the face and kicking him in the legs. Mr. Hunter attempted to grapple with his attacker.

While the struggle was going on Lai Shee, Chinese porter, employed at the hotel, arrived to take up his duties and, seeing what was going on, also shouted for aid.

The bandits became frightened and, leaving their intended victim, fled to the street and disappeared.

MEDALS FOR TWO IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 1.—Heroism medals will be presented by Mayor L. D. Taylor next Thursday to Constable W. D. Shearer of the city police and Constable M. Limb of the C.P.R. force.

The medals are awarded as a result of a gun battle on January 14, when the officers surprised three bandits holding up employees and patrons in the Mountview Beer Parlor on Powell Street. In an exchange of shots with the robbers, the constables succeeded in wounding and capturing G. Bloomfield and F. Decker. The third gunman escaped.

Bloomfield was sentenced at the assizes to fifteen years in prison, while in police court Decker received a term of five years.

The action of the officers drew the favorable comment of the judge and jury in the assize court.

Presentation of the medals will be made at police headquarters.

FARMER KILLS WIFE AND SELF

Canadian Press

Viking, Alta., May 1.—Slashing with a pocket knife, Thomas Harray, forty-five, Philips farmer, killed his wife Minnie, forty-five, yesterday evening, stabbed their daughter, Lillian, eighteen, above the heart, and then ended his own life by cutting his throat, after he had attempted to board a freight train and had fallen and broken one of his legs.

Lillian to-day was in the Viking hospital with a fair chance of recovery. Mrs. Harray died an hour after her husband's attack.

The Harrays have been residents near Philips, which is seven miles east of Viking and eighty-two east of Edmonton, for several years. A family quarrel is believed to have been the cause of the tragedy.

Mrs. Harray left her husband last fall and went to live with relatives in the Barrhead district. She returned to her home several days ago and things seemed to be progressing satisfactorily.

ORCHARD INCREASE

Washington, May 1 (Canadian Press)—The apple-growing states of the United States are anxious to know whether the British preference of about $1 a barrel on Canadian apples will result in Canadians increasing their orchards. Newspapermen asked Premier Bennett about it here Saturday. He replied he had received no advice that more trees were being planted.

NO DELAY AFTER ROOSEVELT GIVEN NEEDED AUTHORITY

Officials at Washington Expect Formal Negotiations With Canada to Be Under Way at Early Date

By R. K. Carnegie
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, May 1.—Prospects of a trade agreement between Canada and the United States which will be counted on to step up the interchange of commodities between the two countries, seemed bright to-day. The impression at the State Department here was that President Roosevelt will send a message to Congress early this month asking for power to make such pacts. As soon as this request is granted, negotiations will begin.

Whether it would be possible to work out an agreement before the World Economic Conference, scheduled to open in London June 12, was a matter of some doubt, a prominent official of the department told the Canadian Press. However, if Congress grants the President the power, this official did not expect any great delay in getting down to concrete work.

BEST CUSTOMER

"Obviously, as Canada is our best customer and with the greatest possibilities for increasing trade, there will be a desire to start our conversations with that country first," he said. "The only thing that may prevent this would be if war debts owed, the United States by other countres should force us to hurry through pacts with them, to be ready when the payments fall due."

A joint statement issued Saturday by Premier Bennett and President Roosevelt assured the people of the two nations they would explore avenues for lowering tariffs, and by exchange stabilization seek to speed up the trade between the Dominion and the republic, which has been languishing.

"We have agreed," said the statement, "to begin a search for means to increase the exchange of commodities between our two countries and thereby promote not only economic betterment on the North American continent, but also the general improvement of world conditions."

POSSIBILITIES STUDIED

While actual negotiations between the Dominion and the Republic cannot start until Congress acts, a great deal of study has already been put on the possibilities for an agreement by trade experts on both sides. The opinion was expressed here the conversations between the President and the Prime Minister, although very practical, were for the most part general. They did not go into definite commodities, except to illustrate the broader principles they were discussing.

The determination on each side to be generous in endeavoring to meet the requests of the other, seems to have been the important outcome of these conversations, together with the desire to relieve trade of as many vexatious restrictions as possible. They also discussed the methods for proceeding with the negotiations.

Officials here expected the negotiations would be continued between the Canadian minister, Hon. W. D. Herridge and his staff, with the State Department, and at Ottawa between the United States legation and the Canadian department of External Affairs.

LUMBER TRADE

The State Department officials do not see any great difficulties in meeting Canada's request that lumber be put back at the old rate of $1 per 1,000 feet, instead of the present rate of $4. Lumber is a commodity in which there is a reciprocal trade between the two countries, Canada buying southern hardwoods from the United States.

Cattle is not a big item in the United States view, and Washington would likely not be very much opposed to going back to the lower rates which existed under the Fordney-McCumber tariff, when Canada shipped up to around 300,000 head to the United States. At no time have the shipments from Canada, except in the big years during the war, exceeded one per cent. of all the cattle consumed anually in the United States.

Potatoes and dairy products are other commodities which will be considered.

The fish concessions asked for will require considerable study.

FOR FARMERS

Much depends on what Canada is prepared to give in return, it was said here. The opinion was expressed Canada would have to give something to help the farmers of the United States. A pact that hit the farmers here and in return gave advantages only to the manufacturers might raise protests from the farmers.

There is nothing much in sight that Canada can give the United States farmers, but the situation may possibly resolve itself by action under the farm relief bill which has just passed the Senate and will soon become law. The President is given broad powers under this bill to assist agriculture and he may so improve farming conditions that agriculture will not object to making some slight sacrifice in return to the manufacturers.

Bulk of the advantages Canada can give the United States will lie in manufactured goods. In spite of the fact that most of automobiles in Canada are produced by branch factories of United States firms, there will be some requests for Canada to lower the tariff here. Electrical equipment is in the same position. The chemical list in the Canadian tariff will probably prove the point where greatest concessions can be given the United States.

DUMPING DUTIES

The whole question of dumping duties and other administrative restrictions Canada enables the Minister of National Revenue to impose and said to be the subject of complaint from the United States. The exporters also say exception will be taken to the tariff provisions designed to shift trade from United States to Canadian ports. The tariff on bananas is an example. Whether this will be pressed, however, is very doubtful. Almost every session of Congress motions are made for the United States to hit back and legislate against go[illegible] other countries coming to [illegible] Canadian ports [illegible] never got far.

Amato Desidero, alias Pierre de Pres, above, may be forced to return to Devil's Island, French penal colony, off Guiana, South America, from which he made a sensational escape some months ago. Desidero was captured in San Francisco by immigration authorities whom he had evaded in entering the United States.

Bennett Says Dominion Ready to Co-operate in International Measures

By R. K. Carnegie, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Washington, May 1.—Proposals being studied to stabilize the exchange between the pound sterling and United States dollar will be of great importance to Canada, and the Dominion will co-operate in any way it can, Premier Bennett told newspapermen before he left here Saturday for New York on his way back to Ottawa.

Canada has a favorable balance of trade in the United Kingdom, payable in sterling, and an unfavorable balance payable in United States dollars in New York. As one is used to offset the other the importance of stabilization is obvious.

The Prime Minister left Washington Saturday afternoon after an active day which had included a number of farewell calls, an address and a brief speech before a talking picture machine. He expressed absolute confidence in far-reaching results from the conversations he had with President Roosevelt.

TRADE INCREASE DESIRED

"Canada is interested in the widest possible commodity exchange," he declared, "and an unselfish approach is necessary for Canada and all other nations in overcoming present conditions."

"Until recently the ordinary man regarded the quotation of foreign exchanges as a matter of no personal interest to himself," Mr. Bennett said in a speech before he left. "They were merely a dull row of scarcely intelligible figures on a financial page of his newspaper.

It is now being impressed on the consciousness of mankind that these figures may have a profound bearing on the welfare of everyone. The Saskatchewan wheat farmer, the Florida orange grower, the Lancashire weaver, the Chinese coolie, the Chilean copper miner—they all are finding their lives are affected by the fluctuations from day to day in the relative values of currencies.

WIDE SWINGS UNWELCOME

"Perhaps the greatest of the important objectives before the Economic Conference soon to meet in London is to restrict as far as possible those violent fluctuations and restore an effective and stable international measure of exchange values. All countries realize how important this is, but there is as yet no general agreement on the means by which it is to be achieved.

"Your President is seeking to prepare for such a general agreement at the conference by undertaking intimate conversations with representatives of the nations of the world. He is not seeking agreements but the bases of understanding on which agreement may be made.

"We are vitally interested in the success of those deliberations and in the solution of our special North American problems.

"We are girding ourselves for the task of vanquishing adversity," the Prime Minister said. "We have an assurance of success in the undisputed fact that there has arisen among the nations a new will for co-operation. We have come definitely and universally to the view that each of us must contribute to a new scheme of international action.

IMMEDIATE ACTION

"The world conference manifests our common consciousness of the need to get together. The action of your great President in asking us to meet him here not only supports the common view, but translates our hopes into immediate action.

"I for one am satisfied that the[illegible] these conversations has been advanced in an immeasurable degree the prospect of achieving that concerted front before which adversity must give way.

"Acknowledging your President's wide vision, unselfish purpose, steady courage, sincerity and rare patience and determination, I promise Canada will play its part in the task of seeking world recovery, through co-operation with this and all the other nations of the world."

"Roosevelt Honeymoon" Looks Good For Long Time Yet as He Holds All Cards

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 1—The Roosevelt honeymoon may be expected to sail on its own sweet way for months to come.

It is not threatened by the current manifestations of resentment and restlessness in Congress. The President is still the smartest politician in Washington and by all odds the most popular man in the country. Those are prime assets in any struggle with Congress, and thus far Roosevelt has not even had to call them into play.

The lightning speed with which the administration's emergency measures were shooting through Congress has slowed down to a more orderly pace and many members are now reading the bills they are asked to pass. Some of the committee chairmen, who ordinarily are gentlemen of great power, have been objecting to continuing as mere rubber stamps. You cannot blame them for that.

SIGNS OF PROTEST

A majority of the Democrats in the in the Senate went against the wishes of the President the other day and voted to remonetize silver. And over in the House a minority of restless Democrats have thus far succeeded in discouraging the attempts of their party leaders to put over a gag rule which would bind them far tighter than they are now.

Both houses might pass an inflation measure over the President's protest if Roosevelt were to refrain from all inflationary steps. But the executive has demonstrated such a capacity for jumping ahead of the procession and leading it in the direction he prefers that hardly anyone, especially since announcement of the new gold policy, believes that they will.

And it takes a longe-range telescope to foresee the day when either branch of Congress may be overriding a Roosevelt veto by a two-thirds vote.

EVEN "REBELS" CAREFUL

The insurgents of the House who held a "rump" meeting to oppose the gag rule were careful to express confidence in Roosevelt's leadership and to pledge allegiance to his programme. They wanted their constituents to know that although they were opposing the policies of the Rainey-Byrns leadership, this must not be construed as disloyalty to the White House. Congressmen who have voted against Roosevelt measures in this session are still hearing from home about it. Most reports agree that the condemnation in those communications has been far more frequent than the praise.

The shrewdness with which Roosevelt has always operated in dealing with men and po[illegible] stand [illegible] pot stea[illegible] years [illegible] about [illegible] him [illegible] process of calling senators and congressmen of all types and beliefs into conference at the White House.

The patronage weapon—witholding federal jobs from beleaguered congressmen and senators until they have finished passing the Roosevelt programme—probably has been overrated. Its tendency is to make a lot of people sore. But it undoubtedly has had some effect on congressmen who might otherwise have been more unruly.

POPULARITY IS KEY

The really impressive weapon in the President's hands is his ability to appeal to the country for support any time he desires. Probably he will not have to use such a weapon—certainly not in the near future. But it is there, ready to hand, and Congress well knows it.

Look toward the political horizon and you will not find a leader who compares even remotely in stature—from the popular standpoints — with Roosevelt. The Republicans in Congress are impotent and such resentment as exists in Democratic ranks is entirely disorganized and scattered over a variety of causes. The only Democrat who has been voicing open disapproval of the President happens to be the Hon. Huey Long, senator from Louisiana.

So do not take it too seriously the next time you read that "the Roosevelt honeymoon seems to be over."

HAROLD SELOUS DIES IN NELSON

Nelson, B.C., May 1.—Harold Selous, seventy-eight, pioneer of Nelson, three times mayor and alderman for seven terms, died here early yesterday morning following an lengthy illness. With his death went a link in the chain of early Nelson history dating back to 1889, when he arrived in the then new and busy mining camp. The man who was to rise to the chief magistrate's post earned his first dollar in Nelson cutting wood. He was among the first real estate men in the city. For some years past he had led a retired life, taking an interest in his garden and on the waters of Kootenay Lake.

Born near London, he was engaged there in the brokerage business and before coming to the Kootenays lived in Florida. He was also associated with the Yukon gold excitement. Mr. Selous was a nephew of the late Frederick Courtenay Selous, famous South African big game hunter, naturalist and author.

In civic affairs Mr. Selous was known as a frank speaker who "never solicited a vote."

BENNETT AND ROOSEVELT EVIDENTLY IN HARMONY

"Acknowledging your President's vision, unselfish purpose, steady courage, sincerity, rare patience, and determination, I promise that Canada will play its part in the task of seeking world recovery through co-operation with this and all the other nations of the world."—Premier Bennett on his visit to Washington.

The most heartening piece of news Canadians of every political stripe have heard in many a year is that the Prime Minister has joined all the economists and far-seeing statesmen in the belief that if the world is to be revived economically there must be an easier exchange of products from farm and factory.

Mr. Bennett's assurance that Canada will play its part can mean nothing else but the Premier's conversion to the doctrine that if there is to be selling there also must be buying. Mr. Hoover tried to do a one-way trade and he must have realized before he went out of office that it failed to work effectively.

The Canadian Prime Minister is satisfied that through the conversations which he had with President Roosevelt that "the prospect of achieving that concerted front before which adversity must give way" has been "advanced in an immeasurable degree."

As already pointed out in these columns, Mr. Bennett went to Washington with the knowledge that there are more than 700,000 unemployed workers in Canada, and that the only way to get them back in jobs is to increase the flow of commodities back and forth across the forty-ninth parallel.

There is a wee, small voice which is whispering that if the United States were to cut its tariff on lumber, for example, this country would have to give something in return. Of course it will have to give something in return. The one-way trade myth has been exposed. Mr. Bennett himself has said that Canada will play its part "in the task of seeking world recovery," and he knows full well that world recovery can be accomplished only by international co-operation.

The old bogey of an adverse balance of trade, as far as Canada's business with the United States is concerned, is being trotted out again. Could any more foolish notion be considered for one moment than that a nation of 10,000,000 people could have a favorable balance of trade with a nation—the most highly-industrialized nation in the world—of nearly 130,000,000?

With the exception of one or two years soon after Confederation, Canada always has been at the lean end of the trade exchange with her neighbor on the south. It would be very satisfactory if it could be more evenly balanced. Under the plan which it can be assumed Mr. Roosevelt proposed to Mr. Bennett, this may be possible.

What must be remembered in any discussion of a trade agreement with the United States, however, is that through the tariff action of the Hoover administration, which demanded reciprocal action by Canada, irrespective of the wisdom of it or otherwise, a commodity exchange worth about $1,400,000,000 four years ago has dwindled to less than $400,000,000.

Mr. Bennett is fully aware of this enormous drop and he very naturally, being a staunch champion of Canada's welfare, wants to apply the remedy as quickly as possible. From his observations of the last few days it is obvious that he has thrown overboard some of his former fiscal theories. It is by no means to his discredit that he should change his mind, that he has permitted himself to be convinced that the "forgotten man" whom Mr. Roosevelt has remembered in the United States is entitled to adequate consideration in Canada.

There are some who seem to think bankruptcy would be better than freer trade between Canada and the United States. All sane-thinking persons will suggest that unless the slack of one billion dollars of trade—more than Canada's trade with the whole world for the fiscal year ending last March 31—is taken up soon, bankruptcy will face the Dominion.

It is pertinent to inquire if British Columbia, as a case in point, would sanction a quid pro quo for the removal or reduction of the United States duty of four dollars a thousand feet on lumber. We would answer that the taxpayers of this province would vote with both hands for almost anything that would restore the market in which practically eighty per cent of our forest products used to find ready sale.

Mr. Bennett may rest assured that the idle workers and the taxpayers of this country will stand solidly behind him in any agreement which he may make with Mr. Roosevelt for the restoration of what once was our greatest market.

SWITZERLAND AS A MARKET FOR CANADIAN WHEAT

Switzerland, on a per capita basis, purchases more Canadian wheat than any other country, not excepting the United Kingdom, writes Mr. J. C. Macgillivray, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Rotterdam.

In 1932 Swiss imports of Canadian wheat amounted to 15,088,794 bushels. Taking the population of the country as 4,000,000, this works out at [illegible] bushels per capita, as compared with [illegible] bushels per person for British consumption. [illegible] wheat, [illegible] seven years [illegible] 17,672,273 [illegible]

fore the war, Russia was the principal supplier of wheat to Switzerland, but now that position is held by Canada, which in 1932 supplied fifty-two per cent of total imports as compared with forty-two per cent in 1931. Canada's principal competitors are Russia and, to a lesser extent, the Argentine.

Since before the war the former country had not sold wheat on the Swiss market, except in negligible quantities, until 1930, when it was credited with 909,526 bushels. In the following year this quantity increased to 2,532,920 bushels; in 1932 it fell to 403,037 bushels.

It is noticeable, therefore, that in 1931, when imports from Russia were at their peak, Canadian imports were correspondingly lower. At the same time, it should be pointed out that even when Russian competition was strongest, the Dominion retained its relative position in the Swiss market much better than in most of the other European wheat-buying countries.

Taking the 1932 wheat imports in particular, a feature was the minor place occupied by the United States in comparison with former years, imports from that country having amounted to only 1,752,350 bushels against 4,324,814 bushels in 1931 and 4,237,496 bushels in 1930.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY REACHES ANOTHER MILESTONE

According to an irreverent versifier who lived contemporaneously with Charles Stuart the Second, that monarch "never said a foolish thing, and never did a wise one." Undoubtedly Charles II did many foolish things, but he always will be remembered for one very wise performance, and that was the granting of a charter to a company "trading into Hudson's Bay," which ever since then has occupied a spacious place in history as the Hudson's Bay Company.

The record of that remarkable organization, which to-morrow will have passed 263 milestones, is one of the most interesting and inspiring stories of empire-building in human history. It covers the exploration, colonization and development of a great part of this continent. With the chapters dealing with its vigorous and enterprising rival, the Northwest Company, with which it eventually combined, its history is replete with outstanding achievement and illustrious names, embracing a roll-call which began with Prince Rupert and included such nation-builders as Sir George Simpson, Sir James Douglas, Dr. McLoughlin and Lord Strathcona.

Notwithstanding its great age, the company, in the extent and diversity of its interests, remains a potent factor in human progress, particularly in the advancement of this country, to whose annals it has contributed so many examples of enterprise and perseverance.

A BRIDGE ADEQUATE FOR ALL PURPOSES IS NEEDED

Although the bridge over the Gorge is not in the city limits of Victoria, its replacement is of as much concern to this community as it is to Saanich and Esquimalt.

Apart from the essential utility of the structure, it spans a piece of scenic beauty which has many historic associations, and is admired by visitors from far and near. But the utilitarian aspect is, after all, the most important. Unless there is some link over the water at this point, it simply means that short connection between Victoria West, Victoria proper and Saanich and Burnside districts will be cut off. In other words, citizens from the two latter communities desiring to go to Victoria West, for instance, would have to come into Victoria if there were no structure over the Gorge.

The idea of erecting a temporary bridge is one which should not be considered. The structure now condemned was a danger to traffic, although it served its purpose for many years. The matter should be given early attention.

OUR VISITING BOWLERS

There are many forms of sport in Victoria—all popular—but it may not be any exaggeration to say that what is euphemistically called bowling is, for this week at any rate, a most popular pastime, since bowlers from all parts of the Pacific Northwest have assembled in this city for the first time in the history of the game. More than 400 visiting bowlers are the guests of the local trundlers of the alleys. The Victoria Daily Times joins with our own aspirants for honors in extending a warm welcome to all competitors.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE STRAIN TOO GREAT
The Toronto Globe

The terrible physical and mental strain put upon hockey players during recent championship games has been a subject of discussion by the press, and the consensus is that this should not be permitted again. Referring particularly to the game between the Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins, The Stayner Sun says:

"A game is a game when it goes the limit of the time standardized for play, but when it drags on for four overtime periods and then some it becomes a gruelling and heart-breaking struggle—and we mean just that. On top of that the same team is called upon to play again in another crucial test less than twenty hours later. Pleasure? Not much."

This puts the case concisely. It may be said in extenuation that these professional players are highly trained and well paid for the hard work they have to do. But the amateur juniors of Newmarket also had to endure a terrible drain on their physical powers. The fact is that never before had there been such long-drawn-out and strenuous contention for supremacy in the different divisions of the hockey schedules. Officials would not deliberately plan such tests of endurance. The Stayner Sun contends that "hockey play-off rules need some revising," and no doubt this will be done before next year's championships are to be decided. It will be a simple matter to arrange longer rest periods between the games, and, in view of possible repetitions of recent struggles, this should be done.

Loose Ends

In somewhat maudlin praise of small towns—of the white swan—of Capt. Louie's steamboat—Mrs. Scott's cooking—and other matters which you won't understand.

By H.B.W.

SOLID EARTH

IN THE teeming haunts of men—such as the haunt where you teem, for instance—men mostly are lost, out of their depth. It is only in the small places, close to the soil, that they tread these days on solid earth. After a day teeming in Vancouver and another day of peace and content in Kamloops, I am convinced that men were never intended to teem, never made to swarm in vast communities, where they are in passing touch with everything but never really get next to anything but their daily job. I am convinced that the simple human animal is essentially a creature of small communities, where he can know his neighbors, take a personal interest in a new sidewalk, fight elections over the erection of a government office or the firing of a janitor, and gossip about other men's wives.

It is the small town which to-day is defying the depression, going about its business as it always did, secure on the foundation of the country's about it. In the small towns of the interior—this is written in Kelowna, where the same thing applies—they know the depression by reputation, they have heard of misery in the teeming haunts of men, but so far as they are concerned, times are just a little hard, that's all; not half as hard as they used to be in the pioneer days, and life goes on much as usual, except that fewer new cars are bought, people don't collect their bills so easily, trousers are a little more shabby than on Government Street.

LOCAL COLOR

YOU HAVE no idea of the separate form of civilization which flourishes in the small towns of our country unless you stay with the people in their homes. Civic banquets for politicians, political conventions and all that sort of thing give no true picture of the solid, thoughtful and generally happy life of these places. A great American novelist recently spent a week in Kamloops, and came out all the way from New York to get the local color of the interior, and then wrote a silly novel about it, having been entertained by boards of trade, ladies' musical societies and Rotary clubs. The novel proved what everyone had suspected, that the novelist had no real notion of the country at all or its people.

The fundamental difference between the people of a city and the people of a small town is not so much of intelligence—although a good case could be made out for the superior intelligence of the small town people, who have more time to think—as a difference in interest. So much happens in big places that the ordinary person has no time to keep track of it. In the small town it is possible to keep abreast of everything, to take a part in everything, to be interested in everything. And where the city dweller, the effete metropolitan person like you, deals largely with the shadows of things, up here you handle things themselves.

BARTER

SOMETIMES UP here you have to handle them too literally for comfort. In a certain town the other day a farmer told his doctor he could pay no money towards the bill for bringing the latest baby into the world, but would be glad to contribute a few potatoes. Next day when the doctor got home, he found two tons of potates dumped in his back yard, and he had to pay someone else to cart them away. By the same process of barter, which prevailed generally in the medical profession for some time last winter, this doctor acquired a cow and has to pay someone to milk it, and a lawyer I know is the owner of a small mountain of onions, the gift of a grateful client.

A fellow who showed me round Kamloops had traveled most of the world, had lived in its greatest cities, drunk its best wines, loved its loveliest women. But here he was overjoyed to show me how a Chinaman named Willie Louie had acquired an ancient river steamer, had insisted on operating it on the Thompson and had forced the provincial government to rebuild its highway bridge at Pritchard to let him pass; for the Thompson, though even the government had forgotten it, is a navigable stream, which seemed a matter of great delight to this citizen of the world turned citizen of Kamloops.

He was proud also, and drove up and down the river sevreal times to demonstrate it, of a superb wild swan which has lately flown out of the sky and settled down upon the Thompson, a splendid sight. He drove me five miles to prove that the wild sunflowers are already abloom on the hillsides, sprawling, ragged and yellow against the grey dirt, and close to them the wistful little yellow faces of the Johnnie Jump-ups.

TEN-POUNDER

HE TOOK me all the way out to Paul Lake to prove, though I knew it already, that Mrs. Scott has not lost her old-time cunning in the kitchen, that they caught a ten-pounder on a fly there last summer and plenty over five pounds, and that four mighty Canada geese, noblest of birds, have settled on the lake for good: noble, heroic with proud bearing, but of greater stupidity than even the tame mallards, for if they are not herded into a pen in the winter nights they will wander off and die of cold. And Bill Nation was there, of course, the familiar spirit of this anglers' heavenly retreat—Bill Nation, the most skilled fisherman in America, who has no doubt that the whole human race was conceived and born for no other purpose than to catch fish and breed more fish to catch.

So, after my traveled and cultured friend had shown me these things, my sophisticad and cynical friend now turned human and sublimely happy, he came at last to the pride of Kamloops' intelligentsia, the little theatre. We went through a back door, by a dingy alley, through the little dressing rooms, across the tiny stage, into the body of the theatre, a good-sized room which seats 120 at a pinch. Here the amateur actors of Kamloops present plays of an intellectual level far above us city folk, but what intrigued and pleased me most was the satisfaction of everyone connected with this enterprise. They derived quite as much joy out of it as if they were managing the Metropolitan Opera.

They expatiate at length on the draperies which they had erected with their own hands around the stage, on the latticework with the tissue paper roses which they had built for a garden scene, on the bow of the burlap birchbark canoe which had appeared in the background of a forest spectacle, on the handful of gravel which, revolved in a kind of mosquito netting churn, sounded precisely like waves breaking on the shore for a grim seaside play.

BIG KICK

THESE PEOPLE are doing simple things—and getting an immense kick out of them. They would never get the same kick in the city from watching more complicated things done by other people. Give me the small towns every time, their neighborliness, their intimate touch, their knowledge of everybody else's business, their innocent gossip about each other's wives, their elections fought on the dismissal of a courthouse janitor. Give me the small towns every time—provided, of course, that I can continue to live in Victoria.

For the purpose of doing something towards the preservation of the fishing and the game within the E. and N. Railway land belt it has been decided by the C.P.R. to establish preserves, which will be placed under strict rules, and over which a game warden will have supervision and direction of all the shooting and fishing that takes place there.

The bank clearings for April amounted to $4,634,089, which is an increase of $79,678 over the same month of last year, and an increase over and above the March clearances this year of $343,307.

The steamer Tees, Captain Townsend, leaves for Mosquito Harbor and way ports this evening. Among her passengers is Captain Balcom, of the Pacific Whaling Company, who is going to the Sechart station.

Month by month the amount of building is increasing, and April has established the high water mark of the present year, the figure for the month being $128,600 as against $110,800 for March, $54,725 for February and $74,315 for January. The total for the four months is thus over $366,000, which is far ahead of any four months of last year.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

PLANS

How carefully we lay brave plans
For years that are to be;
We build the house, we till the soil,
We plant the tiny tree!

Then month by month we guard and tend,
And watch our plans unfold,
And, watching thus, taste joys as sweet
As any life can hold!

To see our hopes in flower at last,
To see our dreams come true,
This is a cherished happiness
That thrills us through and through.

And yet, in spite of all our pains,
Sometimes a tree will die,
Sometimes a burnt-up harvest droops
Beneath a cruel sky.

Or loss may prove more costly still,
The dearest wish of all,
The proudest vessel of our hopes
In shattered bits may fall.

But well we know, though our small plans
May perish in our sight,
The universal plan is one
Where each detail is right.

BORROWING AUTHORIZED

Loan of $30,000 Sanctioned By Ballot of Esquimalt Ratepayers

Immediate steps towards completion of this year's budget and setting of the 1933 tax rate, will be taken by the Esquimalt Council at a special meeting this evening following the passing of the $30,000 loan by-law on Saturday with a majority of nineteen votes above the required three-fifths.

After expressing gratification at the result of the balloting Reeve Albert Heald this morning assured that the council would continue every effort towards further economy in the interests of the ratepayers.

Ballots cast in the voting totaled 367, with 240 in favor and 127 against. Section one voted for the by-law with a majority of 90, the result being 196 for, and 106 against. The section two ballot was 44 for, and 21 against.

Of the $30,000, $22,000 will be devoted towards payment of the municipality's bank overdraft, the Reeve stated, while the remainder will be used chiefly for unemployment relief. The bonds will not be marketed until it is absolutely necessary, Reeve Heald said, and in consequence of the late balloting the final date for tax payments will be advanced one month, from June 30 to July 31. All members of the council were gratified with the result, realizing that it indicated that a majority of the ratepayers still retained faith in them.

In a new factory in England shoes go through as many as 120 different operations, and are worked on or handled by as many different people.

PHILIP GUEDALLA

As one who has often heard Philip Guedalla speak I venture to impress on Victorians that they will have a rare opportunity to-night, that of hearing a brilliant debater and fascinating historian.

His ability as a scholar is proved by the "double first" he took at Oxford. Most of us were more than pleased to get a single second.

Guedalla's brilliance in debate was rewarded by various offices in the Oxford Union Society, where he succeeded Gladstone, Salisbury, Asquith, Milner, Curzon, Birkenhead, Simon and many other great names in British history.

Anyone interested in history or speaking will do well to make his or her way to the Empress to-night.

MUCH MORE THAN A VILLAGE

To the Editor:—In W. T. Allison's very interesting review of Sarah Gertrude Millin's biography "Rhodes," which appeared in last night's Times, Bishop's Stortford, the great imperialist's birthplace, is referred to as a little English village.

I am not exactly certain what constitutes the size of a village, but believe the 10,000 and more inhabitants of the historical old scholastic and market town of Bishop's Stortford would be surprised to hear it is one. It was a place of some importance (and still is) in the time of Charles II and is frequently mentioned in Pepy's Diary.

If I am not mistaken Bishop's Stortford would probably be called a city in this part of the world. There are about thirty trains each way daily between Bishop's Stortford and London.

DRAMA FESTIVAL

To the Editor:—What is coming to be an annual event commences at the Crystal Garden Theatre this evening, at 8 o'clock, and nobody realizes the amount of hard work and worry these affairs entail, not only to the organizers, but to each individual play producer and players.

The greatest of praise is due to them, more especially as nobody receives any money and it is only through these societies that spoken drama is kept alive in Victoria.

The greatest of thanks are due to Major L. Bullock-Webster for his untiring spirit and instigation of these festivals. He is undoubtedly one of Victoria's assets, and his name will always be connected with the B.C. Drama Festival.

Mr. H. E. Pott, who puts in hours of work as honorary secretary, also deserves great thanks. Does anyone realize the amount of correspondence needed to produce twenty-nine plays? Last year the drama festival only took four days, this year it will have six nights and two matinees, the Wednesday matinee having to be adults owing to the number of plays entered.

Then the stage management—not even a hammer heard last year! One would have thought there was nobody behind the curtains, everything produced with stillness and smoothness. Our "hats off" to Roy Goldfinch, and with five plays staged in one evening there must have been some pushing and shoving! Also I did not see the front of the house over-run by the performers after their acts, as in most amateur shows.

So I recommend anyone who wants an enjoyable week to take a season ticket for the drama festival competitions. The last night, Saturday, will be devoted to the winning plays of the previous five nights and two matinees.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

To the Editor.—The several matters of public interest raised and submitted by the Victoria Trades and Labor Council to the Victoria City Council, covering dates January 7 to April 20 of this year, remain in such an incomplete state that a public statement is essential, particularly in view of the fact that seemingly considered statements are made by some of the aldermen which are not founded on fact.

From the "holier than thou" attitude of some of our city fathers one would be led to believe the Victoria Trades and Labor Council to be a body of ignorant irresponsibles, fit subjects for their high-handed bluff and camouflage. The following matters Mr. Mayor and Aldermen, are still waiting your attention:

First: The little matter of a water account of $1,200 rumored cancelled, and brought to your notice February 4, 1933.

Second: A communication of January 7, 1933, sought the following information. 1. Are there any employees of the Relief Department in receipt of pensions or superannuation? 2. Are there any employees in the Relief Department related to aldermen? 3. Is there more than one of a family employed in the Relief Department? Exactly one month later (February 7) the following replies were received over the signature of the chief officer. Question 1. Yes. Two in receipt of compensation, one superannuated civil servant, four war pensioners. Question 2. Yes, two. Question 3. No. The Trades and Labor Council is on record, the same conveyed to Mr. Snowden verbally, that it is raising no issue with employees in receipt of compensation or war pensions of the amounts mentioned, but strenuously protests the employment of a party in the relief department in receipt of two other pay cheques, to wit—government $46.26, a somewhat similar amount from the Victoria School Board, to which must be added the $100 per month from the Relief Department, or a monthly income from public sources of nearly $200. This, despite the fact that many highly-educated citizens are amongst the hundreds of destitute relief applicants, are quite capable of filling the position now held by our three-way official with inside pull.

A most touching spectacle was witnessed at last evening's council meeting, when this particular matter was under consideration. One alderman in righteous indignation demanded a full, any, a complete in every detail investigation into this terrible state of affairs. Don't laugh, we see the joke, too! The tension was broken when an alderman in his usual breezy and fearless manner, and, as chairman of the relief committee, assured the council that no one in the relief department was in receipt of three salary cheques, the Trades and Labor Council was all "wet" and just about a public pest, always butting in in public affairs, when it should be silent and not spill the beans. By an overight (no doubt) he failed to mention the fact that night school closed on March 31, thus closing (temporarily of course) one source of revenue, leaving his "impossible to replace" official with a scant two-way income of the paltry amount of $148.26 per month and few responsibilities. Political jugglery and claptrap evasion does not measure up to the standard of perfection looked for in our popular chairman.

We now come to another matter of gross injustice to and discrimination against old and reliable city employees, the grass cutters. These men are "seasonable" workers and have been employed grass-cutting for from ten to twenty years, all subject to superannuation. The season's work has been opened up for some two weeks or so, and in place of the regular men, who are a charge against departmental estimates, the work is being done as a relief measure, to the detriment and discrimination of regular city servants. There is a direct boulevard tax sufficient to meet all charges of upkeep under normal conditions, that is, paying regular city wages and employing those who have followed this class of work for years. Under the relief scheme the city provides $1 in every $3, collecting the other $2 from federal and provincial governments. Nice work, Mr. Parks Chairman! Our committee met the Mayor on April 6. Alderman Brown was present. The Mayor assured the committee that all grass-cutters subject to superannuation would get their jobs as usual. This he reaffirmed to the writer on the evening of the eleventh. He also suggested seeing the comptroller during his absence should the men not get started. The committee interviewed the comptroller on the twentieth and was again assured the men would be at work within the next three or four days. Up to last evening, two of the men have been taken on, one last week and the other, so we are informed, yesterday morning.

The Victoria Daily Times, April 22, carried a news item, "Report Asked on Criticism," in which it was stated Alderman Worthington assured the council that all such men (grass-cutters) were now employed, and promised to bring down a report. This is just another sample of aldermanic bluff, and misrepresentation. We wonder if our parks chairman thinks he is guiling anyone otherwise than himself. There are times when silence is a virtue, and had the alderman exercised that trait, he would not find himself in the unhappy position of having to seek some avenue of reconciling misrepresentation with fact.

VIC MEYERS TO DIRECT REVUE

Lieut.-Governor of Washington Master of Ceremonies at Show Here

Vic Meyers, who will appear at the big musical revue at the Royal Victoria Theatre, May 8 and 9, has made quite a name for himself. First known as a Victor recording artist, he later became renowned on the radio, having "hooked-up" occasionally with the National Broadcasting Company. Over a year ago he created a furore in Seattle by running as candidate for mayor. Last November he was elected Lieut.-Governor of the State of Washington.

His visit to Victoria will be in the nature of a gesture of goodwill, both to the city and the local musicians' association, whom he is aiding by acting as master of ceremonies at the revue here.

WORKING BEE CLEARS GROUND

Tennis Courts Graded By Volunteers at Mount View High School

Preliminary grading and clearing for the construction of tennis courts at the Mount View High School in Saanich, was completed by volunteer labor at a working "bee" on the grounds Saturday.

Double-horse ploughing teams were provided by R. Cochrane, F. A. Rudd, and W. Palfrey, and A. F. Morgan with one horse. J. B. Shaw acted as engineer in charge, supervising the grading while William Pridmore had charge of the "laborers." The "bee" was one of the most successful ever held and considerable work was accomplished.

A committee headed by H. E. Flett and Miss Amy Gladstone, with G. A. Aldridge, high school caterer, assisting, provided luncheon for the men and their wives. The food was given by Mrs. E. Exton, R. B. Prendergast, Mrs. V. S. McLachlan and H. E. Flett.

Following the meal, Mr. Flett gave a brief informative talk on waterless cookery, emphasizing the value of using British Columbia fruits and vegetables.

The success of the affair gave rise to making plans for another "bee," by which it is hoped to complete further work. Those in charge expressed deep appreciation to the farmers nd other workers who so generously gave their time in aiding the school board of the municipality, at the same time saving that body cost of constructing the courts.

FESTIVAL OPENS THIS EVENING

After weeks of rehearsals, and whole armies of people working on special props for the twenty-nine plays, the B.C. Drama Festival will open this evening at the Crystal Garden Theatre, at 8 o'clock.

Premier Tolmie has consented to be present and open the festival. He will address the audience prior to the performances.

The public will not be admitted while a play is in progress. Those arriving late may have to wait twenty minutes.

The Beaux Arts Club has arranged the music for the opening night and the following four drama groups have been drawn to open the contest: The Dwarf Theatre, producing "The Court of Love," by L. Bullock-Webster; the Chephudow Club, producing "The Shadow of the Nile," by L. Bullock-Webster; the Fairfield Players, producing "The Golden Rule in Courtship," by C. Rayle Cock; the Victoria School of Expression, producing "Trapped," by J. C. McMullen.

DODGE SALES SHOW INCREASE

The Dodge "DQ" Six "priced right down among the lowest-priced cars" is mainly responsible for the very large increase in Dodge sales during the first quarter of this year, according to Russel Paige, vice-president in charge of sales for Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited.

Retail sales of Dodge cars were two and a half times last year's sales in the first quarter based on government registration figures for Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces compiled for the industry by Might Directories. "This very substantial increase," Mr. Paige continued, "was, of course, largely based upon the Dodge 'DQ' Six which for the first time permitted Dodge to enter the low-priced field with a car which fully upholds the Dodge tradition of utmost dependability and good workmanship."

"Considering these registrations from another angle," said Mr. Paige, "the Dodge percentage of the total sales made in eastern Canada during the quarter was 10.1 per cent this year as against 3.5 per cent last year. For four consecutive months Dodge sales have shown a tremendous gain over each corresponding month of the previous year. Only cars outstanding in appearance, performance and convenience could achieve such results. These sales, stated Mr. Paige, are the concrete impression of the public's desire to own cars of Dodge reputation and dependability which have been translated into action by the values we are offering in 1933 which are greatest in the long and honorable history of Dodge Brothers.

"This record amply justifies the judgment of Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited in manufacturing a car of Dodge reputation and quality as a contender in the lowest-priced field," concluded Mr. Paige.

SPRING LAMB SHOW JUNE 14

The executive of the Metchosin Sheep Breeders' Association has decided on June 14 for the date of the seventh annual Spring Lamb Show. This will be held in Metchosin Hall and grounds, together with the shearing contests.

In addition to the two classes for grade ewe lambs, there will be a class for grade yearling ewes, to be shown unshorn, the quality of the wool to count thirty points. There will also be the weiher class or butcher lambs. All animals shown must be sired by a purebred ram. There will be three classes for wool, fine, medium and coarse. The judges will be announced later.

To interest the ladies, a handicraft exhibit will be held in the hall and a demonstration of preparing wool for the making of a bed comforter will be given. There will be a list of prizes for various articles made of B.C. wool, these to be judged by Mrs. E. Simmonds.

Final arrangements for the show will be made at the regular meeting to be held May 9.

Sees High Schools Surviving Onslaughts Of Reactionaries

By FRANCIS RYLAND

I AM GOING to write very briefly of the prospects of education, not only in British Columbia but in the Dominion of Canada generally.

At the present moment certainly they do not appear particularly bright.

In times of disaster reactionary minds are still apt to go a-hunting for witches. Primitive tribes did it when the crops failed. Medieval Europe in times of plague—which were frequent. The reactionary attitude is the same throughout every age—perfect fidelity to yesterday, perfect despair of to-day, hopeless disbelief in the future. Hence the "smelling out of witches" to-day even as in the long yesterdays. Hence the years of needless sacrifices and torture—the needless crucifixion of progress.

Education happens to be one of the mythical "witches" of to-day, "smelled out" by reactionaries in their search for causes of the depression and high taxes and so on and so forth. The persistent attacks on it are as ruthless, illogical and altogether silly as any burning and torturing of the Middle Ages. As any "smelling out" of witches by voodoo doctors among savage tribes.

In every part of the country there are loud cries that much of the money that has been spent on education has been thrown away. Proposals are even being made to abolish high schools on the theory that all the "common" people are entitled to is eight years in the grades.

I do not believe that the movement—if it becomes a movement instead of as at present the blundering moans of reactionaries—will get very far.

The establishment of organized education is too firm. It has developed in response to vital needs, which are now more real and intense than ever. Adolescents who might have become workers are being forced back into the schools rather than wander the streets. From 1920 to 1930 the enrolment in high schools of pupils between seventeen and eighteen increased 196 per cent.

High schools will, I believe, survive all the onslaughts of the reactionaries, whether they are large property owners who can afford to send their own children to private schools, or ignoramuses clinging to memories of their own youth. Public pressure cannot be long resisted, even in hard times. On Monday, April 10, "alarm and indignation at the continual onslaught in the guise of economy being made on the educational opportunities available to children in the public and high schools" was part of a resolution forwarded by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council to the Victoria City Council.

Educational institutions will be kept open, but undoubtedly on a reduced scale. The reductions are likely to be of two kinds: those that limit the opportunities of the pupil and those that limit the rewards of the teacher.

* * *

THE FIRST group of reductions rests on the assumption that there is a certain minimum education which constitutes the maximum obligation of the government.

But I want to tell you the minimum obligation of the government is to give its future citizens the maximum education within its means. Just now, instead of reducing the opportunities for education, if we had any foresight at all we should be increasing them.

But we say we cannot afford to do this.

Yet I see no escape from the fact that the future will bring a further increase in high school enrolment as the past few years has done. It should be a heartening fact. It is due to the mismanagement of our governmental system it becomes a problem.

* * *

VERY serious consequences will certainly follow any general reduction in the compensation of teachers. Such reductions are, it is true, being justified by the statement that the incomes of everybody have been cut down. This may be accurate, but it is irrelevant. Teachers have always been very much underpaid. For years one of the first objects of educational administrators all over the world has been to increase their compensation. Teachers do not reap speculative profits during booms. They should not suffer losses during depressions. In view of the importance of education we must make every effort to attract the finest kind of people into it. One phase of this effort must be the provision of reasonable and secure compensation.

These suggestions apply, of course, to all honest and capable public servants. There are such people, and they have never been overpaid. The general salary reductions recently imposed on governmental employees have been one of the most discouraging features of the depression. If we are ever to have reputable public service we must reward those who can make it so. The way to reduce public expenditures is not to cut and harry necessary services but to eliminate those who have made public service disreputable.

* * *

A TEACHER is a public servant influencing intimately and powerfully scores of future citizens. We should not be able to afford less than the best teachers, and compensate them according to their measure.

This attitude is not utopian, but sound common sense. Second raters, muddlers have landed us where we are to-day.

Yet it is an age of specialists, and we should employ them in government as in schools.

Winnipeg Masquers Are First Drama Winners

Will Receive Bessborough Cup and Special Trophy at Ottawa

Ottawa, May 1.—The Masquers Club of Winnipeg is winner of the Dominion Drama Festival competition. With their play, "The Man Born to Be Hanged," by Richard Hughes, the Winnipeg Club received a marking of 83 per cent of excellence from Rupert Harvey, festival adjudicator.

To the Masquers Club will be awarded the Bessborough Cup, emblematic of amateur dramatic supremacy in Canada, as well as the special trophy given for the best play in English to be presented during the festival.

As the second best presentation in either English or French, Mr. Harvey nominated "Les Rantzau," by Erecknann-Chatrian, which L'Union Dramatique de Quebec Enr. offered as their entry. This performance received a marking of 80 per cent of excellence.

The Quebec dramatic organization will receive the special trophy awarded for the best play in French, although it is notable that "Les Rantzau" took second position in the whole competition.

The second best English performance during the competition was "Back to Methuselah," by George Bernard Shaw, which the Vancouver Little Theatre Association gave. This presentation received a marking of 79 per cent from Mr. Harvey. Only part I of the first act of this play was presented.

Third in the English plays came "Will Shakespeare," by Clemence Dane, presented by the Ottawa Drama League (group B). Its marking was 77 per cent.

In the French plays, "Le Baiser Dan La Nuit," presented by Le Cercle Dramatique Des Etudiants De Laval, Quebec, was awarded second position. Its percentage was 66. This play is by Maurice Level.

The third best performance in French was "Une Affaire D'Or" (first act), by Marcel Gerbidon, which Les Anciens du Gesu De Montreal, presented. It gained 63 per cent of excellence.

"The general standard of work in Canada is as good, and in many cases considerably better than the work which I have recently judged in England," he said. He had found his work of adjudication "an immense pleasure and a real joy," and he commented favorably on the general excellence of the first competition which Canada has staged.

A few words from Sir Robert Borden, president of the festival, emphasized the importance of the work. In a country like Canada, with vast resources largely undeveloped, there was a tendency to lay stress on material things rather than on artistic and spiritual. Consequently those who were "seeking to hold aloft the torch" of the spiritual were performing a great and necessary work.

"I am not quite sure whether it is harder to be a prime minister during the war or to be adjudicator of this festival," remarked Sir Robert as the audience laughed.

"Back to Methuselah" was commended by Mr. Harvey as "an exceptionally able performance." It was very difficult for any amateur organization to cast this play to perfection, he said, but the Vancouver Little Theatre Association had come very near to doing so. Speech, gesture, movement, and lighting were approved by the adjudicator, and he thought the interpretation of the play had fulfilled the author's intention admirably.

GRETA GARBO BACK IN U.S.

Miss Garbo Will Begin Work on New Film Next Week

Associated Press

San Diego, Cal., May 1.—Greta Garbo returned to the United States Sunday to resume her work in the films and, with a wave of her hand to several scores of fans who had arisen at dawn to see her ship dock, she said she was glad to be back.

Tanned by the wind and the sun on the long trip from Gothenburg aboard the Annie Johnson, combination freight and passenger vessel, the actress disembarked here to motor to Hollywood with Mrs. Salka Viertel, wife of a film director.

National Council of Women to Meet Soon

Fortieth Annual Session to Be Held in Calgary May 29 to June 2

Miss Winnifred Kydd, President, to Attend Meeting in Sweden in June

Canadian Press

Calgary, Alta., May 1.—The fortieth annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada will be held in Calgary from May 29 to June 2, when interesting reports of the year's work in Canada will be submitted. The National Council last met in annual session in Calgary in 1921.

The National Council of Women of Canada was founded in 1893 by the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, wife of the Governor-General of Canada at that time, and is one of forty-eight councils in the world making up the International Council of Women, with headquarters in Paris, and of which Lady Aberdeen is president.

The national president, Miss M. Winnifred Kydd, M.A., Montreal, will attend a meeting of the executive of the International Council of Women in Stockholm, Sweden, from June 26 to July 6.

The National Council was formed with the idea that the best good of Canada would be advanced by a greater unity of thought, sympathy and purpose and that an organized movement of women would best conserve the highest good of the family and the state. The council is organized in the interest of no one propaganda and has no power over the organizations which constitute it, beyond that of suggestion and sympathy. It is non-political and non-sectarian.

The council is composed of provincial councils, fifty local councils, sixteen nationally organized societies in federation, twenty standing committees and six special committees. The latter may be formed to undertake special work, such as the committee on maternal care, whose report has been published by the federal government; and the special committee on the Canadian National Exhibition, which has arranged successful exhibits in the Women's Building of the C.N.E., Toronto, for some years.

In 1928 the council started a foundation fund with an objective of $200,000. A large portion of this amount has already been raised, largely through national life memberships of $100, which entitles the donor to membership in the council and a copy of the year book.

The National Council, through its fifty local councils, has been actively engaged during the past two years in unemployment relief and education towards world disarmament. Last year the national president was chosen a member of the Canadian delegation to the disarmament conference in Geneva.

The annual meeting sessions are open to the public. There are approximately 500,000 members in Canada.

White House Dog Leaves in Disgrace

Associated Press

Washington, May 1.—The only masculine guest at Mrs. Roosevelt's White House party last night left in disgrace because he bit Senator Hattie Caraway.

It was Major, White House police dog, who took it upon himself to take part in the ceremony of introducing distinguished guests. When Mrs. Roosevelt introduced Mrs. Garner Major gave three rousing barks. He got so much applause that by the time Mrs. Roosevelt had gone down the list of "Cabinet Wives" and to Senator Caraway, his co-operation knew no bounds.

WEDDING SCENE BISHOP'S PALACE

Miss Phyllis Evelyn Nunn and Mr. Gordon A. Woolridge Wed Saturday Evening

The Bishop's Palace was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday evening at 8.15 o'clock when Rev. Father O'Neill united in marriage Phyllis Evelyn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nunn, Queen's Avenue, and Mr. Gordon Albert Woolridge, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Woolridge, Gordon Head.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length frock of gray georgette, made with puff sleeves and a cluster of pink and blue flowers at the waistline, and a small picture hat of light delphinium blue, faced with blue and pink, and blue slippers. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and mauve sweet peas.

Miss Marjorie Breckenridge was the bridesmaid and wore a pretty frock of beige flat crepe, with puff sleeves, appliqued in velvet flowers. She also wore a small brown hat, brown slippers and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and pink snapdragons.

Mr. Gordon MacEachern was the best man.

About 100 guests attended the reception which followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall, where yellow and green featured the decorations. Supper was served from a table centred with the wedding cake, and arranged with yellow tapers, and vases filled with daffodils and primroses. A three-piece orchestra played a delightful selection of popular airs, and dancing was enjoyed by many of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunn welcomed their friends, the latter wearing a smart robe of polo blue georgette with a yoke of lace and hat en suite, and by Mrs. D. J. Patterson, sister of the groom, in a gown of apple green georgette and matching hat. They both had corsages of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolridge left by the Ss. Dorothy Alexander at midnight for Los Angeles and, on their return to Victoria, will make their home on Fifth Street. The bride traveled in a natty sports suit of Spanish tile, a gray lapin jacket and a gray hat and shoes. Among the lovely presents received by the young couple was a mantel clock from the credit department at David Spencer Ltd., where the bride had been employed.

The regular business meeting followed and it was decided that the next meeting will take the form of a notion shower. Members present were Mesdames H. G. Bourne, A. Stewart, P. R. Trowsdale, E. Orchin, J. R. Marrs, Misses R. Rodger, J. McIowan, M. Scott, H. Templeton, J. Robertson and M. Dixon.

Saturday's Tea.—The tea to be given at "The Priory," Pemberton Road, next Saturday, in aid of the Friendly Help Society funds, will be under the general convenership of Mrs. D. C. Sabiston, and assisting the hostess in receiving will be the president of the association, Mrs. A. S. Christie; the past president, Mrs. Margaret Cullom; Miss Mary Lawson, and Mrs. William Grant. The Firemen's Band has volunteered its services for the afternoon, and will give an almost continuous programme of music.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DON'T ALWAYS BLAME BABY FOR SPITTING OUT CEREAL

There are all kinds of cereals which are usable for babies. We have become accustomed to the finer wheat preparations or the cooked, strained oats, but when babies show a marked distaste for these types, it is advisable to try others.

NEEDS PRACTICE

Mrs. H. H. F. doesn't realize that baby has to get used to new kinds of foods, and sometimes seems to be spitting them out when in truth she is simply awkward at negotiating them. A baby may have been used to only liquid foods, and solid foods require a different manipulation of the tongue. This mother writes: "I am worried because my eight-pounds-at-birth baby weighs only fourteen pounds at six and one-half months of age. I have been nursing her since birth. I give her orange juice and have tried to give her cereal, but she won't take any; she spits it all out.

"I seem to have plenty of milk for her and she is a good baby, nurses every three hours in daytime and then she sleeps all night. What kind of cereal shall I give her? I have been using a fine wheat preparation. I am sure she ought to weigh more."

CHANGE METHOD

Her gain has not kept pace with that of the average baby, and, of course, she does need orange juice, cereal and vegetables in her present diet. Try another type of cereal, either oats, well cooked and sieved, or strained, ripe bananas, or try the same preparation again and offer it more adeptly. Use a small spoon, tip baby's head back slightly, and empty the spoon rather far back on the tongue. When baby attempts to suck upon the food, as she is accustomed to do with fluids, it won't be forced out of her mouth. That is probably happening now.

Try the four-hour nursing periods and make up any deficit of the breast by complementary feedings. It takes only a short time to accustom baby to a new, strange food, and during that preparatory period the amounts at each feeding are very small.

You may have my leaflet on "Feeding from Two to Nine Months," and also the leaflet on weaning, which it would seem advisable to start very soon. The rate of gain has been inadequate so far, and it will continue to be more so. You can't expect to nurse baby all summer, and it is better to wean before hot weather. Please send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for these leaflets by name.

FATHER HUBBARD TO GIVE LECTURE

Will Address Women's Canadian Club To-morrow

Rev. Father Hubbard, "The Glacier Priest," will be the speaker to-morrow afternoon at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club to be held at the Empress Hotel.

Father Hubbard's achievements as geologist and explorer in the volcanic islands of the Aleutian group have won him an enviable reputation, and he is known all through the English-speaking world as an author and lecturer of distinction, his publication on the subject of the famous Aniakchak Volcano being a particularly notable contribution to the explorers' library during recent years. As a lecturer he is racy, entertaining, and at the same time scientific.

In everyday life he is professor of geology at Santa Clara College, California, but is now on the eve of another of his exploration trips into the north, being due to leave on May 10. He will speak here on "The Moon Craters of Alaska."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Most girls make-up carefully when their best beaux are coming Saturday nights.

But how many young wives take the time to make-up after the babies are put to bed and it's time to sit down to dinner with hubby?

Dash some cold water onto your face, when you've tucked in the infant. Then use a little powder base for a face lotion, put on your rouge, lipstick and even a bit of eye-shadow, dust over the powder and see if you won't contribute a little more to the evening's entertainment.

Probably the greatest benefit will be to yourself. Just getting that last glimpse of yourself looking pretty will [illegible] spirits will do some [illegible] to make your husband forget inflation, the extra work he's doing for the same pay.

Your hair is very important. Thank fortune the old days of curl papers and "boudoir caps" are gone. Practically 80 per cent of women now take pride in keeping their hair "fixed." But not that many take the time or trouble to do it over and take some pains with it every evening. Why don't you pay special attention to it?

Tag Results. — As a result of the S.P.C.A. tag day held on Saturday, $279 has been added to the funds of the organization. The committee thanks all who assisted in collecting and the pub-

The conveners are Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, 1060 Hampshire Road, Empire 8589, and Mrs. E. Patterson, 62 Wellington Avenue, Empire 3155. Mrs. W. Barrowclough will be tea convener, assisted by Miss Edith King, to whom offers of supplies can be sent. Those taking tables are Mrs. A. E. Anthony, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. S. Mitchell, Miss E. Hasell, a former officer of the chapter, will be the guest of honor. After the meeting, tea will be served. The members are urged to make a point of attending this meeting.

SOCIETY WOMAN BECOMES MAID

Canadian Press

Chicago, May 1.—A maid's life is no bed of roses.

This is the conclusion of Mrs. Frank Jarrell, Topeka, Kan., club woman who worked for several months for different Kansas City families to find out how a maid is treated. Mrs. Jarrell told a Young Women's Christian Association committee on household employment recently of how she got her "first" place in Kansas City with a letter written on her own stationery addressed "to whom it may concern" and which introduced "Nina Johnson," domestic.

"My room," she said, "was a tiny one off the kitchen. The bed was hard and lumpy. My bath was in a corner of the cellar. In order to be sure of privacy I had to get up before any of the rest of the family arose. The only time I was tempted to reveal my identity was when one of my mistresses ordered me to scrub the cellar steps again, but I held my tongue.

"I never got to know any of the women I worked for excepting one. When I left she told me she was really sorry I was leaving—because I made such a nice omelet."

From one place Mrs. Jarrell said she got away from her job with a telegram, which read: "Come home at once; Ma has broke her hip. Uncle Henry."

"But," Mrs. Jarrell concluded, "I did not have to be called from my last place. On my evening off I had gone with my husband, who happened to be in town on business, to a club to dinner. My mistress and her husband were also there. The next morning she said she believed she could get along without me."

Oxford Movement Lecture.—A. M. D. Fairbain will give an address on the Oxford Group Movement in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, May 9, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. Mrs. C. C. Spofford, president of the council, will preside, and the soloists will include Mrs. Edith Mayell, Mrs. J. B. Shaw and Fred Wright.

"The Tangle"

A Novel by

H. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS

Author of "Cap'n Benny" and "A Friendless Millionaire"

CHAPTER XIV

Gray was strolling about the garden when Manson got to the vicarage, and turned quickly at the sound of his steps and came towards him.

"Where on earth have you been all this time? I waited up until the early hours of the morning, and then gave it up as a bad job. I didn't know whether it was official duties or another mysterious disappearance. But you are just in time for breakfast, anyhow, though you don't deserve one, keeping these disreputable hours. I shall be a cause of scandal in the parish if my guests go on in this way," he laughed light-heartedly.

Manson looked at him feeling rather surprised. He had left him with an anxious, worried appearance, and disinclined for much talk; he found him looking ten years younger, and the Gray he used to know. What had caused the change?

He made no comment on the alteration he observed, but laughed back a reply that he was ready for breakfast, but would like a tub first if there was time.

"I've been fearfully busy and am dead tired, so shall try a nap later, but I've loads to talk over with you."

This time the glance that Gray gave was free from the look of apprehension that he had half expected, and was frank and free from anything like evasion as the Vicar answered—

"Get your tub by all means. I'll hold back the breakfast for a quarter of an hour. I am as hungry as a hunter myself, so hurry up or you will find it all gone."

Manson grinned in reply, and was soon enjoying his cold bath, which freshened him up and set his wits working again.

"Now I wonder what has happened?" he soliloquized as he rubbed himself down. "Gray had something on his mind, I'll swear, and that something was connected with this business at the 'Lindens.' It was something serious, too, for Gray is not the man to worry over trifles. Whatever it was, it ceases to trouble him. I wonder whether he will talk later?" His self-communion was interrupted as the voice of the man of whom he was at the moment thinking, was heard coming up the stairs.

Manson called back that he was just ready, and as he put the finishing touches to his toilet thought that Gray's recovery of appetite was a confirmation of his theories concerning him.

The satisfaction of that appetite, and Manson's, was the first care of both men as they sat opposite to each other and consumed the usual viands that the porcine animal and the domestic bird provide for the Englishman's first meal.

They talked little until breakfast was finished, and then the Vicar, filling his pipe as Manson followed his example, suggested a move to the study. Arrived there, Gray unlocked a drawer of his desk and took out a small paper parcel, which he placed on the table beside him.

"Now tell me all that you have been up to, and, if not revealing official secrets, all that you have found out." He lit his pipe and settled himself in his chair, waiting for his friend to begin, quietly puffing away as he did so.

The detective began his narrative, discreetly editing it for the Vicar's delectation; that is to say, he eliminated as much as possible all that had caused suspicion as to the complicity of the Squire in the affair. Of his inquiries on the previous day he said nothing, but began upon the news that awaited him on his return and the advent of Troate.

"I know him for a notorious poacher," interjected Gray between the puffs complacently, to be shaken out of his quiet attitude by the detailing of Troate's discovery.

"Gracious heavens!" Poor Miss Debnam too!" he groaned.

"Not 'Miss Debnam' but 'Mr. Somebody'!" replied Manson. The Vicar's pipe dropped on the floor in his amazement.

"My dear 'Curly Greens,' what are you saying?" he exclaimed, as he dived for his briar.

"Just that, a man masquerading for his own purposes as a woman." And Manson went on, to the growing wonder of Gray, to narrate the disappearance of the car.

"But my dear fellow, aren't you making all this up and just pulling my leg?"

"Curly Greens" smiled and shook his head.

"Solemn, sober truth," he averred.

"But—but how did the car get there, and who took it off?"

"Of the person responsible for the removal of the car I have only a strong suspicion, which I am waiting for further inquiries to verify. I am practically certain of the identity of the man who placed the car there, and I suspect that you are also."

"I do?" he cried. "Who was it?"

"Our friend, young Estcourt!" replied Manson in measured tones, still scrutinizing closely the Vicar's face.

"Gracious goodness!" murmured Gray in low tones, as he fell back in his chair," "was he there too? I hadn't thought of that," and sank into amazed silence.

"He knows something," thought the detective triumphantly. "Will he tell me, or will he keep his mouth shut?" He had not very long to wait for an answer.

"I am going to speak to you frankly about a matter that has given me greater trouble of mind than anything in my life before. Whether I acted rightly or wrongly you must judge, but spare me your open expression of opinion, for I fear it will be adverse. Though had you been in my place I think you would have acted as I did, and as I would again." The Vicar's voice rang out almost defiantly as he spoke.

"You know that I was the first person to whom Birks came after the discovery of the crime at the 'Lindens,' and that I was left in charge of the place while he went off for assistance."

"A very wrong thing of him to do. Oh, these country bumpkins!" commented Manson whimsically. Gray paid no heed to the interruptions, and his friend blamed himself for being so frivolous, as he saw the strained earnestness of his friend's face.

"Naturally I spent my time looking for traces of the one guilty of this awful crime. I found two things. In the hall, footprints; but in the room itself, this"—here he handed the small parcel to the detective. He opened it, and found he blood-stained handkerchief bearing Miss Estcourt's name which the Vicar had carried off and concealed so carefully.

The Vicar held up his hand.

"I asked you, and ask you again, to spare me the expression of your judgment upon my action. I know Mrs. Estcourt as a lady of gentle Christian character. She, her husband, and his son I am proud to call my friends. I determined to shield her name at all costs. You blame me, and probably in doing so you only voice what is likely to be the verdict of the majority upon my action. Indeed, I have had a struggle with my own conscience"—the Vicar smiled sadly—"but that is neither here nor there; it lies between mysef and my Maker," he added solemnly.

Still more than half annoyed Manson put the natural question—

"Why then do you put this into my hands now?"

"Because I have found that my action has been justified, and providentially Mrs. Estcourt is cleared of all complicity."

The detective stared.

"What on earth do you mean? What more do you know about this puzzling case?"

"Let me tell you how I came to know that Mrs. Estcourt had no part in the murder of Mrs. Lisle, in spite of the evidence of her handkerchief and its condition." His explanation was as follows.

On the previous day he was in a state that generally forms the prelude of a nervous breakdown. What he had gathered from Manson added to the fears that were continually troubling him, and the struggle with his conscience of which he spoke to Manson was real and continuous. The inquest had accentuated all his misgivings, and at lunch Manson's talk had brought him to the verge of a collapse. He sat in his study brooding long after Manson had gone out, and at last, unable to stand it any longer, he put on his hat and went out to try and find distraction from his painful thoughts by visiting sick parishioners. He was returning from the house when he caught sight of Miss Montalt on the other side of the way, who immediately began crossing the road to speak to him. He did not feel at all inclined for speech, and as she bore down upon him with her usual majestic walk, he shuddered inwardly at having to discuss, as he knew that he would have to do, the affair at the "Lindens." In spite of his real respect and liking for the lady, he would have gladly escaped, if he could have done so with anything like decency.

He braced himself for the inevitable, and after some talk of a general character the fatal subject was broached in characteristic manner.

"And what have you been doing, Vicar, in my absence from home?"

Gray feigned misunderstanding.

"Oh! the usual parish duties, and missed you very much about the place."

"Bless the man! I'm not talking about your two-penny-halfpenny tea parties, I'm talking about the 'Lindens.' Have you found the murderer yet?"

Gray winced a little as he answered vaguely—

"A terrible affair, Miss Montalt—and to think that it should have occurred in my parish!"

"It would have been terrible in any parish, I should think," she responded grimly; "and I have been thinking much of the shock it must have been to poor Mrs. Estcourt. No wonder she is ill. How is she, by the way? I only got back this morning, and have not had time to inquire."

Uncle Wiggily's May Flower

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"This is the day! Ho! Ho! This is the day," sang Uncle Wiggily as he gally hopped about his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"What do you mean? What day?" asked his wife, who was helping Nurse Jane dust the furniture, "is this the day you are going to take me for an automobile ride?"

"Well, no, not exactly, my dear," said Mr. Longears, stopping his dance all of a sudden. "Though I will take you for a ride a little later. But now I must go out and see if I can find one. This is the day! Tra, la, la, la, la!"

"What day? What are you going out to look for?" asked the bunny gentleman's wife, at the same time shaking her head at Nurse Jane, who also thought Uncle Wiggily was acting very queer like.

"Maybe he's going to look for a Bad Chap," squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"No," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh as he pinkied his twink nose. "Though I may find one. But what I am going to look for is a May flower—the first one of the spring. To-day is the first of May, you know, ladies, and after all the April showers we have had there must be some May flowers in the woods and fields. I'm going to hop away and look for them."

"Good luck to you," wished Mrs. Longears as she went in to see if the piano had lost any of its keys.

"If you find a May blossom, bring it home," said Nurse Jane.

"I shall," promised the rabbit gentleman as he hopped away.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped Mr. Longears, looking on this side and that side and the other side for some pretty May flower.

"There ought to be plenty of May blossoms around," said the rabbit gentleman. "Only I can't seem to find them. I must keep on looking, though. Never give up. So I'll keep on looking."

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping about like Billie Wagtail, the little goat boy, he saw a flash of something red in the grass on top of a little hill just in front of him.

"Ha! The first May flower!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "There it is, on top of the hill. I'll get it and take it to my wife and Nurse Jane. I have found what I was looking for!"

Quickly Mr. Longears hopped to the top of the hill, but all of a sudden, the red flower which he thought he had seen appeared to jump up and run away. At least Uncle Wiggily saw it fluttering in the grass and going down hill away from him.

"This is very strange!" said Uncle Wiggily. "The wind must have broken the flower off the stem and blown it away. But I'll chase after it. I mustn't let the first May flower get away from me like that."

So the bunny hopped after the red flower. But when he thought he was close to it, all of the sudden the red blossom would get away from him and when he saw it next it would be down in the grass farther on. It was most surprising.

"I think that flower must be alive," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It seems to know I am chasing it and it keeps running away from me, like playing tag. I know what I'll do! I'll hop toward it backward and then the flower won't think I'm chasing it. In that way I may get it."

So Uncle Wiggily began hopping backward toward the red flower which he now saw down in the green grass of the cow pasture. It wasn't easy for Mr. Longears to hop backward, but at last he managed to do it.

"Ah! I'm getting closer I'm getting closer!" whispered Mr. Longears as he looked over his shoulder and saw the red blossom.

Then, all of a sudden he heard a voice crying:

"Let me go! Let me go!"

"Oh, surely the flower must be alive! Some one has caught it and won't let it go!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But I'll save the May blossom!" cried the brave rabbit gentleman. Giving a big backward jump, Uncle Wiggily landed in the grass close to the red flower.

Then he saw it wasn't a May flower at all. It was a bright, red ribbon on the ear of Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit. And the Bob Cat had caught Baby Bunty and was dragging her away through the grass, which made it seem as if a red flower was hopping.

"Get away from her, you bad Bob Cat!" cried Uncle Wiggily, throwing a stone at the mewing creature with the silly little tail. "Let Baby Bunty alone!" And the Bob Cat was so surprised at the brave rabbit gentleman that away he ran and Uncle Wiggily took Baby Bunty and her red ribbon back to the bungalow. And when his wife and Nurse Jane asked him if he had found a May blossom, he said:

"I did. The prettiest I ever saw!" And he kissed Baby Bunty.

RESULTS HELD UNPREDICTABLE

Much Will Depend on How Roosevelt Uses His Powers

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 1—Anyone who can't predict the effects of departure from the gold standard needn't step to the foot of the class.

Uncertainty prevails in Washington as well as everywhere else. That is because ho one—including the administration—knows what the administration will do with its new powers to effect inflation. The future will be governed by the results of Roosevelt's conference with the foreign premiers and the world economic conference as well as by internal economic developments.

Going off gold is likely at least to check the continued deflation which caused President Roosevelt's decision, but any marked changes in prices or effects on groups and individual citizens probably will be almost entirely dependent on the extent to which Roosevelt is willing to inflate the currency or change the gold content of the dollar.

Even then it is a guess as to how much inflation is required to achieve any given result and it is known that Roosevelt plans to operate flexibly in his management of the currency, adopting or abandoning steps as seems best at the moment.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

Much depends on the relative emphasis placed on such aims as the ability to bargain effectively with foreign nations, an immediate stimulation of prices, forcing of the rest of the world back to gold, and other objectives. The order of their importance in the mind of the administration is not yet clear.

Immediate effects, as observed on the markets, may not be the ultimate effects. Our leap from gold is best compared with that of England in September, 1931. The British markets went in for a boom, but soon subsided. British domestic prices went up, but by the beginning of this year had returned almost to their former levels.

The difference is that the legislation asked by Roosevelt carries a real promise of inflation. England was not forced to expand her currency and refused to do so. Mild inflation in this country would make little difference except as it might check falling prices and Roosevelt's past declarations for an "adequate but sound currency" and against drastic monetary changes have indicated his aversion to radical procedure.

For weeks there has been serious consideration here of a $5,000,000,000 public works bond issue. Now it seems more likely that there will be an issue of only $2,000,000,000. If issuance of new federal notes is confined to $3,000,000,000 as authorized by the inflation bill, there would still be only the $5,000,000,000 of inflation previously contemplated, although interest charges would be saved and the effect on the bond market less dangerous. This is about the same amount as the deflation involved in frozen money in closed banks—although the closed bank situation will be remedied.

THE GOLD DOLLAR

The gold content of the dollar might be changed immediately to establish a relation between fixed charges, wages and prices or the devaluation might be deferred for adjustment in connection with an agreement for a general return of nations to the gold standard, which is generally desired.

While the extent of our "reflation" is likely to fall somewhere between the experience of the British and the drastic inflation practiced by the French a few years ago, the British comparison is by far the best both as regards the immediate present and the prospects.

The boom in British markets in September, 1931, was primarily due to a belief that currency inflation was sure to follow. The current boom in our own markets is based on a similar belief, although present operations cannot involve any accurate forecasts of what is going to happen to money and prices.

EFFECT ON TRADE

Most other nations went off gold with Britain and plugged their exports as hard as they knew how, so that by the first of this year our exports had fallen to about 29 per cent of their 1929 value, while those of other countries were about 38 per cent of theirs. Meanwhile England reduced her adverse balance of trade by 45 per cent.

Going off gold now leaves the world without a monetary yard-stick, subject to fluttering exchange rates and threats of a race in depreciated currencies. That is a situation which the world's statesmen are expected to remedy. The British want a restoration of the gold standard on a workable basis. Now that there is no longer any nourishment in picking on the American dollar her statesmen presumably will be more anxious to restore monetary stability if they can get what they consider the requisite concessions on tariffs, international debts and other factors in the world trade jam.

The morning hours are read as suspicious for constructive work of every sort, for there is a sway making for direct action.

Scientists are subject to helpful planetary direction at this time, when physicians, surgeons and chemists should benefit.

Again the seers foretell discoveries that assure great improvement to the human race. Nature is to disclose new secrets of beauty, it is foretold.

Cosmetics and other artificial aids to comeliness are to be less popular than they have been, astrologers predict, for they will not be needed as the race develops physically.

This should be a fairly lucky day for starting on ocean voyages. Many European visitors are to be entertained in this country in the summer months, astrologers declare.

One of the seasonal prognostications for vacation time announces much touring that will bring profit to railways, airways and waterways.

Pairs of every sort should profit, if the stars are rightly read. Chicago will attract crowds, despite all misgivings due to recent financial anxieties.

This is not a fortunate day for seeking employment or preferment. Persons who control human destinies may be difficult to convince. This applies to political as well as commercial dispensers of jobs.

Women should find this a favorable time for working out their summer wardrobes. The stars smile on those who sew.

Club entertainings of many sorts are well directed under this planetary government, which foreshadows the rise of new leaders among organizations of women.

In this new era a younger generation is to prove its ability rapidly as it takes over affairs in business, professional and political circles, astrologers point out.

Good manners are to be fashionable once more. A trend toward formality in social intercourse is discerned.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain through hard work. There may be much readjustment in financial interests.

Do You Squander Happiness?

Dorothy Dix

Advises Seizing Joys of To-day

Are You One of the "Thrifty" People Who Refuse To Capitalize on the Joys of To-day in the Hope of Having More To-morrow?—In Other Words, Do You Nag Your Husband or Grouch at Your Wife—and Still Hope Some Day to Be Happy?

ARE YOU a happiness waster?

There are a great many people who are so thrifty that they never throw away even so much as a penny. They always snap out the light behind them when they leave a room even for a moment. Every particle of food left over goes into the stockpot. They pare the potato peels to a gossamer thinness. They save the backs of old envelopes, and use up a lead pencil to the stub. They drive their cars as little as possible because they want to save their gasoline.

I know a woman who is throwing away her happiness by nagging. She married a young man who was that answer to any maiden's prayer for a husband and he was wildly and romantically in love with her, but she is driving him away from her and killing his affection for her by her nagging. He has got so he dreads to come home of an evening because he knows that he will be met at the door by a fretful voice reminding him for the millionth time to wipe his feet on the mat and complaining about his being three minutes late and never remembering to hang up his hat in the right place.

The atmosphere in that home should be gay and joyous, but it is as dark and gloomy as a tomb because the woman at the head of it is always whining and complaining and thrashing over old grievances about her husband lending an old friend some money ten years ago that has never been repaid or the time he went to see his mother when she wanted to go on a pleasure trip. They have a beautiful car, but a ride in it is a torture because she back-seat chauffeurs and every minute prods him with admonitions not to drive so fast or not to go so slow or to watch out for a truck or not to run down a dog.

That woman has happiness in her hands, but she is throwing it away.

I know a man who is throwing away his happiness by his grouchiness. He has a fine, prosperous business, a beautiful home, a wife who is pretty and sweet and amiable and intelligent and a splendid housekeeper, and beautiful children. All the materials of happiness, yet he makes out of them nothing but misery for himself and his family.

The very sound of his key in the door of an evening sends the temperature of the house down to zero. It hushes the children's prattle and makes the cat scuttle for the cellar. He comes in looking like the day of wrath, finding fault with everything that has been done and left undone. He never speaks except to criticize or say something unpleasant. He finds fault with the food. He knocks his wife's management. He flies into rages over nothing at all and spends the evening in a sullen silence that condemns the universe and takes all the pep and flavor out of life.

This man's wife and children live in trembling terror of him. They never say a word to him that they can help for fear of bringing down upon their luckless heads a torrent of abuse. They are glad when he goes off on trips. Thankful when they can escape from his presence. He might have the love of his family and their appreciation and gratitude for what he does for them, for he gives to them generously. He might have the children's arms around his neck. He might be their confidante and have them tell him all their hopes and plans. He might live in that paradise on earth—a happy home. But he throws it all away for the sake of his grouches.

I know plenty of other people who waste their happiness by not conserving the joy of to-day. They are like that character in "Alice in Wonderland" who says: "Jam yesterday. Jam to-morrow. But never any jam to-day." There is never any jam on their bread to-day, yet to-day is all that any of us have.

How often do you see the women who have good jobs for which they get good pay, who are following some occupation in which they are really interestd, yet who make themselves wretched moaning and groaning because they have to work and support themselves or because they are not married. Not getting a single kick out of the freedom and the financial independence and the careers that so many other women crave.

How few mothers get any real fun out of their children. Especially when they are little. They look on their babies as burdens and complain about being tied down by them and talk about the sacrifices they make in having to give up their bridge and night clubs and being kept so busy. They are bored by having to wipe little noses and wash little faces and walk miles after little toddlers. And they miss the thrill and interest of watching a little mind unfold and the sweetness of a little head cuddled on their breasts and the greatest flattery that any human being ever gets, in having a little child look up to you as all-wise and all-powerful and all-good.

And look at the thousands and thousands of men and women who never enjoy life as they go along; who deny themselves the good clothes they desire until it is too late for them to dress up; who do without the good food they crave until they have lost their digestions and can live only on milk and mush; who put off the traveling of which they have dreamed from their youth until they are so old and rheumatic that all they can do is to sit in a chimney corner in a chair.

Happiness wasters, all of them. Foolish people who had happiness in their grasp and threw it away.

China's Capital Cities

An eleven-year-old reader has written to ask me the name of the present capital city of China. She says that her geography class is puzzled about the subject.

A scene in Peiping.

It is not a simple thing to name the present Chinese capital. In addition to her troubles with Japan, China has been going through a long period of civil wars. There is no city in the country which all the people accept as the capital. Nanking has been declared the official capital but most foreign ambassadors still live in Peiping.

In large part, the civil wars in China have been contests between people of the north and people of the south, reminding us of the American Civil war. There have been periods when North China and South China have had separate, well-organized governments. Canton has been a great seat of power for South China.

During the days of the Chinese empire, Peking was the capital which all the people admitted. It was the home of the emperors until a revolution took place, and turned the country into a republic. The republic was proclaimed in 1912. The famous Sun Yet Sen was leader of the revolution. He is now dead, but his memory is honored deeply by the people.

Even after the coming of the republic, Peking remained the capital. The name "Peking" means "Northern Capital." A little more than four years ago, after being captured by an army during the course of the civil wars, the name of the city was changed to "Peiping," meaning "Northern Peace."

After the capture of Peking, or Peiping, efforts were made to turn Nanking into a capital for all of China. These efforts have been largely, but not entirely, successful; there are many Chinese who refuse to accept Nanking as the just centre of power; but it comes closer than any other city to making good its claim of being the present capital.

What will be the final outcome of the civil wars, no one can tell. It is possible that China will split into two separate nations; and such action might be good for the country. During recent years the warfare has been more about the question of Communism than about the claims of government in northern and southern sections; but the conflict between North China and South China is age-old, and may result in definite separation.

Peiping is one of the oldest cities on the earth, and can trace its history back for more than 2,500 years. Latest figures indicate that it is the home of 1,300,000 persons. Nanking has a population of 1,000,000 and Canton contains 1,360,000 citizens.

SALLY EILERS AT PLAYHOUSE

Sally Eilers and Ralph Bellamy appear in the leading roles and both give admirable performances. Especially is this true of Miss Eilers, whose handling of a difficult part adds much to her already established fame.

She plays the role of a young office girl who falls in love with her rich married employer. There is, of course, a divorce, but they find themselves surrounded by obstacles that make serious threats on their happiness.

As an added attraction the management of the Playhouse Theatre is offering "Payment Deferred," starring Charles Laughton.

TROOPS BATTLE AT GREAT WALL

Associated Press

Kupeikow, at the Great Wall of China, May 1.—Five thousand Chinese remaining in a salient north of the Great Wall were attacked by the Japanese infantry to-day, with air bombers assisting them, the Rengo (Japanese) News Agency reported.

The Japanese occupied the city of Hinglungchen, the Rengo correspondent said, and "nearly annihilated the enemy."

The attack was made by units of the infantry brigade of Major-General Yoshimichi Suzuki. The Japanese reported they had lost eight killed and estimated 700 Chinese were killed. The Chinese, they said, were retreating to the south in disorder.

TOWN CAPTURED

Peiping, China, May 1.—Japanese and Manchukuan troops were reported to-day to have occupied Dolonor (Tolun), a city in the Chinese province of Chahar.

Chahar is a Mongolian province west of Jehol, the province which was seized from the Chinese in the Japanese campaign which ended in March.

Chinese telegrams from Kalgan, Chahar, said 10,000 Manchukuans, assisted by 400 Japanese, had attacked Dolonor with airplanes and tanks last Friday.

JAMES CAGNEY STARRING HERE

High powered press-agentry and advertising with James Cagney providing all the high power form the basis for Warner Brothers picture, "Hard to Handle," which opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre.

"Hard to Handle" marks James Cagney's return to the screen after an absence of seven months. It is his first picture since "Winner Take All." He is the big noise behind the exploitation of marathon dances, eighteen-day diets, treasure hunts and reducing creams which furnish the comedy material bearing the punch of Cagney's trademark. The bad boy of the screen has quit socking females for the time being in favor of leaving his own chin wide open, by stirring up the public with his wide-eyed publicity schemes.

STAGE ATTRACTION

The popular revue company "The Troubadours," will appear all this week at the Capitol Theatre in addition to the regular picture programme. They will appear once each afternoon and twice each evening.

The company is composed of Ernest Franklin, producer and manager of the troupe who is also a versatile entertainer; Harold Groves, humorist; Mabel Wells, specialty dancer; Alan King, baritone; Barbara Groves, male impersonator; Reginald Stofer, stiffleur; Arthur Groves, impressionist; Leslie Jordan, violinist, and Stella Wilson, accompanist.

DOMINION THEATRE

That popular music is returning to motion pictures is evidenced by the popularity of the Warner Bros. dramatic epic of backstage life, "42nd Street," now at the Dominion Theatre. This carries several special song numbers written by Al Dubin and Harry Warren, Broadway song writers.

Tin Pan Alley invaded Hollywood with the advent of talking pictures four years ago, but musical films gave way to dramatic subjects, and the writers deserted the Coast for the East again. Now with such pictures as "Crooner," "Blessed Event," "The Phantom President," "The Kid From Spain," and the most recent of all "42nd Street," the song writers are flocking back to Hollywood again.

But the trend is not toward entirely song productions. "42nd Street," for example, is in reality a dramatic story of the life of players of the theatrical world, but it carries a musical show within this theme, and presents the work of producing such a show from the first rehearsal until the opening, revealing the loves and lives of the hoofers and temperamental leads.

Moran and Mack At the Columbia

Moran and Mack, those two headmen of hilarity, stage a triumphant return to the screen in Mack Sennett's feature - length laughmaker, "Hypnotized," which opened an engagement at the Columbia Theatre to-day. Famous on the radio, stage and screen, as well as through the medium of their phonograph records, "The Two Black Crows" prove welcome additions to the screen's roster of expert comics. As nursemaids to the elephants in O'Brien and Shapiro's big circus, their droll humor supplies a bargain in laughs to the audience.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Miss Leontine Sagan, who directed this picture, has brought to the screen a faithful reproduction of the atmosphere of youthful gaiety. The cast includes Merle Oberon, Emlyn Williams, Robert Donat, John Traynor, Esther Kiss and Annie Esmond.

Also on the same programme is "The Jungle Romance."

Will Show Film Of Scotland Tour

A fine motion picture, "Two Thousand Miles Motor Tour Through Scotland," will be presented in the schoolroom of St. Barnabas' Church, corner Cook Street and Caledona Avenue, on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

This film, which was prepared by the Cunard Steamship Company, is being shown in Canada through the co-operation of the Canadian National Railways. During the presentation, pupils of Adeline Grant and Violet Fowkes dance studios will perform Highland dances. The proceeds are for the organ fund of the church.

Basketball Used Was Underweight

Test on Drug Store Scales Afterward Proved Lightness, Referee States

Why did Ed. Dawson, big guard of the Windsor-Walkerville Alumni basketball team, shake his head so dubiously Saturday evening here when he first got hold of the ball in warming up for the opening game of the Canadian championship. Why did he walk up to Referee "Buck" Leo and say things to him and finally retire still looking dissatisfied?

His actions, which puzzled fans who crowded the main building at the Willows exhibition grounds, were explained by him at the Gyro Club luncheon in Spencer's private dining-room to-day, when Gyro Waldo Skillings got up on his feet and humorously requested a reason for Dawson's actions.

It appears that the ball seemed too light to Dawson. It was not the sort of ball he was used to handling back east and he told the Gyros so to-day. Referee Yeo happened to be one of the guests and rose to reply.

BALL WAS UNDERWEIGHT

He said he had weighed and measured the ball on grocery scales before the match, as usual, and had found it came up to the specifications. The rules provided the ball must be not less than twenty ounces and not more than twenty-two. This particular ball, bought in Victoria for $17, weighed twenty ounces on the grocery scales, but when Referee Leo again weighed it in a drug store the morning after the match, it was found to be between one-eighth and one-quarter of an ounce under twenty. So Dawson was right.

However, he need have no fears about the ball being too light for to-night's game, because Referee Yeo said one belonging to Dawson's own team will be used and he should know all the peculiarities of it.

At the luncheon in honor of the visiting team to-day, speakers included Gordon Fuller, manager of the Windsor-Walkerville Alumni; J. A. Barnwell, of the Blue Ribbon Company; "Scotty" Dowds; "Buck" Leo; Julius Goldman, captain of the visitors, and "Chuck" Chapman, captain of the Blue Ribbons.

A general sing-song was led by Bill Hudson, with Charlie Hunt at the piano, and Harry Holder, saxophonist. The visitors gave a request rendition of "Sweet Adeline."

CONCERT AT ROYAL

Mr. Hunt reminded the assemblage of the monster Musicians' Union concert to be held at the Royal Victoria next Monday and Tuesday evenings, with Vic Meyers, Lieutenant-governor of Washington State and noted orchestral leader, as master of ceremonies. He pointed out that the union in the past had received $1,200 a year for twelve Beacon Hill Park concerts, but this year had been asked to raise $1,000 against the $1,000 put up by the city for twenty concerts. It was to help raise this money that the coming programme was to be given for two nights at the Royal, he explained.

HOME PRODUCTS FAIR WINDS UP

Vaudeville and Band Concert Closes Affair at Armories

An enjoyable vaudeville and band concert at the Armories Saturday evening terminated the 1933 Home Products Fair conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. The programme was in charge of Cecil Armistead and had been arranged by Harold Palmer of the Chamber.

Before the vaudeville commenced, the band of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment played several excellent selections and was warmly applauded.

Included in the programme were acrobatic dancing by Mabel Wells, to the accompaniment of Cecil Armistead; comedy acts, stunt songs and jazz music by Ronald Smith and Cleaver Wilson; banjo solos by Grace Attfield, who was attired in Italian costume, representing the Italian School of Music and Dancing, to which she belongs; English coster songs by Harry Hyde; a French dance by Muriel Marshall of the Italian School; old-time songs by William Barlow; butterfly dance by Grace Attfield, and a banjo tap dance in Spanish costume by the same artist; and Thakar Singh in club swinging and lifting weights.

The various entertainers were thanked for their contributions to the fair, which is helping in the good work of fostering the purchase of home products.

BURIED SATURDAY

The funeral service held at Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday afternoon for William Appleby was attended by a large number of friends. The officers and members of the Sons of England Lodge attended in a body. Following the service, which was conducted by Rev. A. G. E. Munson, interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery, and the following acted as pallbearers: Representing the Sons of England, Bros. J. Nankivell, R. Dinsdale, J. R. Williams, John Nute, G. Watkins and A. Gent. The Sons of England service at the graveside was conducted by Bro. W. Ashworth, president of Alexandra Lodge, No. 116, assisted by Bro. F. Rawnsley, chaplain. Many beautiful floral tokens of remembrance and sympathy covered casket and hearse.

Two cases of prowling E. and N. Railway box cars were cleared up with the arraignment in juvenile court Saturday of six juveniles, all of whom were allowed suspended sentence, for first offences. Detectives F. Woodburn and H. Jarvis conducted the investigations. In one case, on April 14, the three youths were scared away from the box car by a patrol constable who noticed a collie dog looking at them inside the car. Tins of jam were taken in the other robbery, which occurred February 22.

ALPINISTS IN SOOKE OUTING

Buck Hill and Ragged Mountain Visited Over the Week-end

In two outings over the week-end, members of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club of Canada climbed Buck Hill, Sooke, on Saturday, and on Sunday continued work on tracing the old survey of the club's park property around the south side of Ragged Mountain.

The trip Saturday afternoon finished at the farm of C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, where the alpinists were entertained for dinner.

Tracing the blazed survey lines proved an interesting, if difficult task, in the Sunday outing, which lasted all day. The tree marks were made many years ago and considerable time was required to locate some of them.

The next trip will be on May 14, when an excursion to Salt Spring Island is planned for the week-end. The party will leave Saturday afternoon, sleeping out for the night. The objectives are Mounts Erskine and Belcher.

Premier Tolmie has invited the teams to his home on Wednesday. They will be his luncheon guests at Cloverdale, the historic Tolmie residence.

LACE SELLER FACES CHARGE

Woman Fails to Appear on Fraud Count and Bail Is Estreated

Bail in the sum of $50 was estreated in the City Police Court this morning when Mary Ann Robson failed to answer to two charges of obtaining money by false pretences.

The charges were based on sales of lace made by defendants to housewives in the city. She is alleged to hve stated the material was genuine Irish lace and charged for it accordingly. The purchasers claimed they eventually discovered the lace was not what it had been purported to be.

Those laying informations were Florence Hawkins, who claimed loss of $7, and Mary Macdonald, who paid $15.

The defendant was turned over to city detectives and allowed liberty on $50 bail Saturday. A warrant will be issued for her apprehension.

Nielson of Vancouver, and William Moffatt Deans, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Deans of Dalkeith, Scotland. The bride was attended by Mrs. R. Simm of Victoria, and wore a costume of navy blue Canton crepe and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The groom was supported by A. L. Oakley. Mr. and Mrs. Deans left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver, where they will make their home.

He came west in the late 'nineties. Fishing, farming and lumbering were given trials before he started what is now one of the oldest grain and grocery firms on the Coast. He is a member of the Colwood Golf Club "and talks and plays a good game of golf," commented one of his friends.

Walter E. Staneland, who has been prominently identified with community interests in Victoria for many years and was a former police commissioner, was one year older to-day.

F. H. Harrison, chief accountant of the Public Works Department, registers another year to-day.

Miss Eunice Mae Owens is celebrating her twenty-first birthday to-day. She is a native daughter of Victoria, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Owens of 3396½ Douglas Street. She is the niece of Inspector Robert Owens of the B.C. Police.

Jack McLennan, golfer and bowler, is receiving birthday congratulations to-day. Jack is engaged with the Oculist Prescription Company and settled down not long ago as a happily-married man. Yesterday he marked the passing of another year by competing in the Uplands Golf Club championship, but after a fine morning round slipped out of the qualifying group in the afternoon. He is participating in the Northwestern International Bowling Congress this week.

Jack Phillion, who celebrates a birthday to-day, was born in Victoria and educated at the Boys' Central School, where he was captain of the rugby and basketball teams the year they won the Cowichan and senior trophies. He was also captain of the school cadet corps and won a cup for rifle shooting. He is a member of the Fifth Regiment Senior "B" rugby team and also plays on the regiment's basketball squad. He lives with his parents at 134 St. Andrew's Street.

Mrs. Stanley Hatary, of 1150 Mason Street, reached her twenty-first birthday to-day. A resident of Victoria for many years, Mrs. Hatery came to the city as a young girl and received her early education here. She is a keen athlete and spends most of her time swimming. She is the wife of the leading stoker of H.M.C.S. Vancouver.

Mrs. Gray Russell, 2535 Scott Street, native daughter of Victoria received birthday congratulations yesterday. She is the wife of one of Victoria's firefighters. Mrs. Russell is a garden lover and takes pride in a wonderful collection of roses.

Mrs. T. B. Veitch of 540 Dunedin Street, celebrates her birthday to-day. She is mother of five sons all born in Victoria. She has been a resident of this city for forty-six years, and is prominent in lodge and political work.

To-day R. A. Bainbridge of Marlborough Street is celebrating two anniversaries, that of his sixty-eighth birthday and the twenty-fifth of his first day in railroad service on Vancouver Island. A railroad man practically all his life, Mr. Bainbridge is now retired, having left the position of divisional engineer with the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway nearly two years ago. Born in Northumberland, England May 1, 1865, Mr. Bainbridge came to Canada when a young man and started railroading on the prairies as a rod man in 1886. Three years later he came to British Columbia and worked on the Canadian Pacific until he came to the Island twenty-five years ago.

B. T. Chappell, general superintendent in British Columbia for the Canadian National Railways, is celebrating a birthday to-day. With headquarters in Vancouver, Mr. Chappell is well known in Victoria, being a frequent visitor on business and pleasure. Mr. Chappell was born in Charlottetown, P.E.I., May 1, 1878, and has been a railroad man for a good many years in his life.

NEW SENTIMENT IS APPARENT

Eastern Canada Looks For Decided Improvement in Fall, Says E. A. Purkis

Eastern Canadians are anticipating a decided improvement in general business conditions by summer or fall, according to Ernest A. Purkis, representative of the well-known tennis and sporting goods firm of Slazengers, who visited Victoria at the week-end from Toronto. He registered at the Empress Hotel.

There is a noticeable change of sentiment throughout the country, he said, promoted chiefly by the possibilities of the world economic conference in London next month and the improved reciprocal relations between Canada and the United States.

Mr. Purkis, who was in London, Eng., during the early part of the year, said there was a great improvement in conditions in Great Britain. The people over there were carrying on as if no trade depression existed and nobody grumbled.

It was an example, he thought, that Canada could well follow.

"I have heard more complaining here in five minutes than you would hear over there in five months," he commented.

Many Examples Prove Golf Not Bad For Ball Player's Batting

* * *

* * *

National Golf Association Formed For Benefit of the Duffers

TY COBB, when manager of the Detroit Tigers, warred on golf, declaring the game spoiled many a good batting eye. Yet Ty, one of the greatest batters of all time, has been a fine golfer for years.

Lefty O'Doul, who runs to a golf course whenever he has a chance, is a refutation of the theory that a man can't play both golf and baseball. O'Doul led the National League last year in batting. He is at the top of the list of lifetime .360 hitters in the major leagues with an average of .361.

* * *

Babe Ruth, O'Doul and Cobb—all left-handed hitters and golfers—can win from the average golfer nine times out of ten. Golf doesn't seem to have interfered with Ruth's batting eye.

Connie Mack never has objected to his players' golfing. Mack is president of the Mount Pleasant Club, near Orlando, Fla., and though past seventy, he shoots in the eighties. Lefty Grove and Mickey Cochrane—forming baseball's best battery—play golf. Big George Earnshaw was a starter in the winter Agua Caliente Open, and turned in an 82 for his first round. Jimmy Foxx, leading home run hitter last year, also plays golf.

* * *

Tommy Armour says Sammy Byrd of the New York Yankees is a better golfer than a ball player. Sam Rice of the Washington Senators; Bucky Harris, manager of the Tigers, and probably a hundred or more other major leaguers, tee off.

The duffer who shoots anywhere from from 80 to 100 is about to have his day. Recently an organization was formed in the United States to promote a national handicap tournament.

This organization, the Handicap Golfers' Association of America, has the sanction of the U.S.G.A. and the backing of its president, Herbert Jaques, Boston.

The idea is to stimulate interest among club members shoved into the background by a few topnotchers. Any golfer belonging to a recognized club is eligible. During a specific period he may play a round. His attested card and club handicap will be forwarded to national headquarters in New York. Club, state and national winners will be tabulated.

* * *

An entry list of upward of 100,000 is expected, of which probably 100 or more will tie for first place. The winners then will meet at some central course for a final round. In this tournament a player may win a national tournament with a score as high as 110.

Max Marston, former amateur champion, is president of the new organization. Vice-presidents are Stacy Bender, president of the Metropolitan Golf Association; Lowry Arnold, president of the Southern Association; Harry E. Radix, president of the Chicago Association; and J. K. Wadley, president of the Texas Association. A. C. Greyson is secretary.

Aided By L. Patrick Will Try To Offset Easterners Victory

Ontario Squad Gives Beautiful Demonstration of Centre Pivot-block Play

Out to overtake the running start, Windsor-Walkerville Alumni, champions of eastern Canada, gained by their 40 to 24 victory in the opening game of the Dominion basketball finals on Saturday evening, Victoria Blue Ribbons will go on to the floor at the Willows to-night strengthened by the addition of Lynn Patrick, sterling forward. They hope to present a far more formidable front to the former national title-holders than they did in the initial encounter when their first string forward line was disorganized through Patrick's absence.

In the preliminary at 8 o'lock, Beavers will meet Duncan Shell Oilers. The feature will start an hour later.

FINISHED DISPLAY

After their week-end rest and greater familiarity with the floor, they should give an even more polished exhibition, though they will be up against a stronger squad.

THE PLAY

Windsor started with Sherman playing centre, J. Stewart and Aitcheson forwards and D. King and E. Dawson guards. Art Chapman played centre for the Ribbons, J. Craig and M. Patrick forwards, and C. Chapman and Tom Little, guards.

Stewart pushed the Alumni total to five with a lovely long shot. Chuck Chapman dribbled down on a pass from Art Chapman to score under the basket for Victoria's first points. Aitcheson fouled C. Chapman and the rangy red-head converted.

Stewart charged C. Chapman and Chapman missed his free shot. Windsor called time out. Art Chapman and Johnny Craig found the hoop on two free throws given for fouls by Sherman and Aitcheson.

Stewart missed a free shot when Chuck Chapman blocked. Art took a pass from Craig in the corner and sunk a lovely side-court, one-handed shot.

CAGE CAPERS

By "STARDUSTER"

Blue Ribbons went up against a championship aggregation which gave them a few problems to puzzle over during the week-end.

* * *

Some of these are: How to combat the Windsor screening play; how to develop an effective scoring weapon against the big Windsor defence men, and how to overcome the nervousness which appeared to attend their free shots.

* * *

* * *

* * *

"Wait till Lynn Patrick is back on the floor," the fans said as they trooped out from the game. This seems justified, too, in view of the lack of scoring punch with which the Ribbons were inflicted.

* * *

Lynn watched the game from the bench and told everybody, "I'm feeling fine." But his looks did not justify his claim that he had fully recovered from the attack of 'flu.

* * *

* * *

"I suppose a lot of folks think we were tired after our long train trip from Windsor," Fuller replied. "But we've made trips before and I have noticed that we usually play as well in our opening games as in any others. We had a nice trip across the continent and had a good rest. And, by the way, the way we are being treated here is fine."

* * *

"How did the refereeing suit you?" Fuller was asked.

"We have nothing to complain about," Fuller replied. "There were several little things that were new to us, but that is to be expected."

* * *

When the young lad who came here from Lethbridge to report the series between Raymond-Jacks and Victoria Blue Ribbons, had to explain why the Alberta champions were defeated he took it out on the refereeing, at least on the local half of it. And how he took it out on Tommy de Macedo! According to the Lethbridge scribe, Tommy is Jessie James, horse, gun and all.

* * *

None of the games played between the Ribbons and Jacks and Windsor so far are what one might call tight. That's the time when refereeing counts. With the score tied, or just one or two points separating the teams and time drawing rapidly to a close, decisions mean a great deal. A game may be won on a free throw, and if it is there will always be plenty of discussion on the referee's decision.

* * *

Art Chapman pulled a fast one. He tried shooting free shots with one hand. There's no use hurrying free throws. The Windsor players made a request before the game started for silence when free throws were being made. And they waited for the silence and until they were cool and collected before they sent the ball away, and it usually went through the rim.

* * *

Just imagine only three field baskets between Muzz Patrick and Art Chapman in one game. They're usually good for between ten and fifteen points a game. Muzz worked hard to get under the basket but when he got there he usually found a couple of Windsor guards bearing down hard.

* * *

When the Blue Ribbons were stripping to step on to the floor a telegram was handed to Chuck Chapman. He didn't want to open it and handed it to his brother Art. It was from the Raymond Jacks, wishing the Ribbons good luck in the series. Nice thought, Raymond.

* * *

Premier Tolmie revealed himself as a keen supporter of the Ribbons when he wished the visiting players "every success, but not as much success as they had had so far."

* * *

ester Patrick has discarded pucks for balls with indifferent success. Friday night he was one of those officiating at the opening of the bowling congress and slipped off one pin. He tossed the first ball up Saturday night and "thought you were supposed to hit the ceiling with it." And what a ceiling in that building.

* * *

The sound of the telegraph ticker hammering away at the end of the newspaper scribes' bench is a reminder that it is some years since a Canadian championship has been played in Victoria. The details of these games are going into every city, town and hamlet in Canada. That's good publicity for Victoria. Overhead was the dull rumble of Radio Announcer Bud Hocking sending out a play-by-play description of the encounter. There will be no broadcast to-night, so the fans will have to [illegible]

* * *

J. A. Barnwell, patron of the Ribbons, marched up and down the local bench before the game as proud as punch about his boys. Gordon Fuller the Windsor manager, took the bow for his smart ball-tossers after introduction by Alderman James Adam.

* * *

The referees deserve the orchids again. Tommy de Macedo and "Buck" Yeo handled the whistles, and even the roisterers in the bleachers apparently could not find fault with them.

* * *

Public support is the only thing needed now to make the series a success. There are two fine teams participating to produce a wealth of keen competition. As a sample of what may be done to help the local sponsors, the Gyro Club purchased a block of thirty tickets for the Saturday game and turned out in full force.

Early Leaders In Bowling Congress

Grosse Scatters 637 in Singles; Locals Displaced in Booster Team Event

With entrants in all classes playing, the initial leaders in the Northwestern International Bowling Congress were established at the Olympic Alleys Saturday afternoon and evening.

The best performance of the day was the trundling of Grosse, Seattle, who piled up 637 in the commercial singles and put himself well in line for first money in this event. This score has been surpassed only once in the last five years by the winner of the commercial singles.

In the commercial doubles Hinnebush and Le Gear of Port Angeles, took the lead with 1,096, and in the commercial five-man City Light of Seattle spilled 2,756 with Pantorium Dye Works of Victoria second at 2,625.

LEAD CHANGES HANDS

The lead in the booster five-man changed hands when Washington Athletic Club No. 3 of Seattle scattered 2,458 to displace Empress Hotel No. 2, Victoria. Pay and Weller of Vancouver, recorded 916 in the booster doubles.

The appearance of the first contestants in the open class produced nothing worthy of particular note. Rhebeck, Port Angeles, spilled 594 in the singles, and partnered with Sundberg, recorded 1,136 in the doubles to take the lead in these classes. West Paws, the Port Angeles five-man squad had 2,609. Rhebeck leads the all-events with 1,749.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 1.—Unable to cope with Glebe Collegiate's speedy second-period offensive, Saint John Trojans passed from the Canadian junior basketball play-down trial Saturday night. The Maritime champions, down thirty-six points as a result of Glebe's overwhelming victory in the opening game of the semi-final series, dropped a 46 to 22 decision in the second contest and left the Capital City beaten by 95 to 35 on the round.

SUSPENSION FOR ROYALS PLAYER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 1.—Secretary R. H. Davidson of the Pacific Coast Football Association, to-day announced that Austin Delany of the New Westminster Royals, had been suspended until June 29 for striking McGregor of Nanaimo City during the Coast League game at Con Jones's park on April 22. Orville Boyd of Nanaimo, who was sent off the field for pushing Delaney to the ground, was severely censured.

St. Andrew's Football Club requested that the suspension meted out to their player, T. McNeil, be reconsidered, but the council declined to make any change.

Stoke City and Tottenham Team To Be Promoted

In Spite of Saturday Losses Squads Certain of Going to First Division

Fight For Title Next Saturday

Rangers Easy Champions of Scottish League; Hibernians to Go Up

Canadian Press

London, May 1. — Stoke City and Tottenham Hotspurs, leaders of the second division of the English Football League, to-day were assured of promotion to the first division next season, despite the fact they lost Saturday contests.

Spurs found themselves in a spot where they may be able to snatch the division championship from Stoke next Saturday, the last day of the season, but Fulham in third place cannot catch up.

Victory by Spurs next Saturday would give London three league championships. Arsenal has already beaten the pack in the first division and Brentford cannot be beaten in the southern section of the third.

Despite the attraction of the English Cup final and the fact the championship of the first division is settled, 40,000 fans flocked to Highbury Park to see Arsenal and Huddersfield Town battle to a 2 to 2 draw. The visitors had Arsenal's attack sewed up in the early stages, and took the lead on a smart goal by J. Smith, holding into it till after half-time. Bastin got the equaliser and put Gunners ahead a few minutes later on a neat tally from Hulme's centre, but Smith scored again to tie it up near time.

Aston Villa had a walkover against Blackburn Rovers, winning by 5 to 0, while Sheffield Wednesday defeated Bolton Wanderers, 2 to 0. The leaders stayed in that order, but West Bromwich Albion beat Liverpool 2 to 1, to oust from fourth place Newcastle United, beaten, 3 to 2, by Derby County.

STOKE CITY BEATEN

Fourth-place Bury downed Stoke City, 3 to 2, in a game watched by a small crowd of 7,000. Bury attacked hotly from the starting whistle, and ran in two goals before half-time, the first by Robbie and the second by Eggleston, a newcomer, Whitfield increased Bury's lead right after the interval and the period was almost half over before Stoke's attack steadied down. Palethorpe broke into the scoring column for the losers and Johnson followed with a neat header.

West Ham United pounded in a 1 to 0 win over Tottenham Hotspurs while 36,000 watched, and made sure of avoiding relegation. The game was fought at a terrific clip, which produced no score in the first half. Both defences were so tight the goal keepers had little to do. Finally Wilson broke through for the Hammers with fifteen minutes to go.

NORWICH CITY DISPLACED

Brentford and Bristol played a scoreless draw in the southern section of the third division. Exeter City's 2 to 0 win over Queen's Park Rangers displaced Norwich City from second place. The best Norwich could do was obtain a 1 to 1 tie with Bristol City. Clark and Wrightson gave Exeter victory in the first half.

Hull City beat Crewe Alexandra 3 to 0 in the northern section, But Wrexham tagged close behind with a 7 to 0 win over Accrington Stanley. Chester lost a chance to catch the leaders by taking defeat from Gateshead, 3 to 0.

SCOTTISH SECTION

Canadian Press

Glasgow, May 1.—Rangers to-day were champions of the first division of the Scottish Football League, while Hibernians and Queen of the South were promoted in that order from the second division. East Stirlingshire, in cellar position of the first division, and Morton, second last, were dropped into the minor loop.

Rangers finished a fine season with a 4 to 2 victory over Hamilton Academicals Saturday to make it twenty-six wins in thirty-eight starts. They lost only two games all year. Motherwell, last year's champions, came through with a 4 to 1 win over Cowdenbeath

RUTH KERR SETS MARK

Windsor Swimming Ace Who Competed Here Last Year, Broke Canadian Record

Canadian Press

Windsor, Ont., May 1. — Ruth Kerr, seventeen-year-old Windsor swimming ace, to-day holds the Canadian record for the 220-yard backstroke with a mark of three minutes and eight seconds, twelve seconds faster than the three-year-old record of Marjorie Linton, Toronto.

The record was set during a meet here under the auspices of the Border Swimming Club, sanctioned by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association and timed by their officials. Official recognition of the record is expected.

Canadian Davis Cup Team Is Weakened

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 1.—Personnel of Canada's Davis Cup team for first round matches with Cuba at Hot Springs, Va., May 11, 12 and 13 remained in doubt yesterday evening. At least one of the dependable "four horsemen" of Canadian tennis was not available for the series as Walter Martin, Toronto and Regina star, announced he would be unable to make the trip.

The possibility exists Gilbert Nunns, hard-hitting Toronto racket-wielder, will also remain behind when the cup team leaves for the Virginia tennis resort. The number two ranking player may be unable to leave Toronto for business reasons.

Martin, in his final year at Osgoode Hall Law School, will be writing final examinations as his companion tennis players [illegible] Nunns will write exams May 11 to 19.

Dr. Jack Wright of Vancouver and Marcel Rainville of Montreal will probably again bear the brunt of the Davis Cup attack. Rainville is now at Hot Springs, where he participated in a tournament with prominent United States players, and Wright will be in Toronto for practice this week.

If reinforcements are needed, possible selections are Bob Murray, Leo Boucher and Charlie Leslie of Montreal, and Ossie Ryall and Stan Milne, Vancouver. These men are among the ranking players of the Dominion.

NANAIMO GAIN HARD DRAW AGAINST SAINTS

Edmunds Equalizes With Penalty to Offset Rothweiler's Goal

Canadian Press

Nanaimo, May 1.—The Intercity game here yesterday Nanaimo was decidedly lucky to get a draw with St. Saviours, the score being 1 to 1.

With a strong quarter wind blowing, the first half was fairly even, both teams attacking in turn, with little good football shown by either, several good chances to score being missed by both teams. Reid and Watchorn missed open goals, then Glover saved from Rothweiler and the Saints outside left, and again from Rothweiler. Watchorn missed two glorious opportunities on crosses from Grey and White and later shot over the bar with only the goalie to beat. Rothweiler, with Glover out of goal, pushed the ball through with his hand. Nanaimo had the better of the play for the remainder of the half, but failed to score.

On resumption, Nanaimo bombarded the Saints' goal for ten minutes without scoring. Rothweiler opened the scoring. Nanaimo was on top almost all the time. After twenty minutes' play Nanaimo gained a penalty which Reid converted. The Saints tested Glover for the first time, but he kept out all their shots.

HARD FEELING

Hard feeling developed between Heath and Watchorn and fifteen minutes from the end Heath and a half-back sandwiched Watchorn and tripped him inside the penalty area. Edmunds took the kick and evened the score.

The Saints redoubled their efforts after this and had hard lines in not scoring. Watson's shot hit the underside of the bar to rebound into play and Rothweiler hit the upright from five yards out. The game ended with the Saints forcing a corner from which they almost scored.

Edmonton, May 1—Coach J. Percy Page's Commercial Grads are still supreme in senior Canadian women's basketball.

Fighting step for step with determined, desperate Toronto Ladies' Athletic Club, Grads Saturday night won their twelfth consecutive senior women's basketball championship, defeating Toronto, 72 to 32. Ever since Grads traveled east to London, Ont., in 1922, to whip the London Shamrocks in the first national title-play, Edmonton Girls have year after year retained their Dominion honors.

Saturday nights' game was the second of a possible three-game series. Grads won the first game Thursday night 79 to 24. In the two games they scored 151 points against their opponents' 56.

TORONTO HANDICAPPED

In the final game Toronto faced a handicap of no small proportions, being forced to face the Grads with only six players. Connie Colston their regular centre, did not play Saturday night. Elsie Hendry was injured in the first game here and could not play in the last game. Marjy Dawes, flashy right forward, was knocked out in the third period of the game Saturday night in a collision with Grad defence players. She only retired awhile, but she was not effective.

Babe Belanger, the brilliant left forward of the Grads again ran riot against Toronto, scoring twenty-one points. The little French girl has all the class in the world and has a marvelous shot. Captain Margaret MacBurney was the second highest scorer with nineteen points. Marjory Dawes with ten points led the Toronto team. More than 2,500 people saw the game.

JUNIOR TAKES MEDAL HONORS

Defeats Randall in Play-off After Tie Over Thirty-six Holes

Harold Pretty, son of George Pretty, captured the medal honors in the qualifying round of the Uplands Golf Club championship yesterday when he defeated Dave Randall in a nine-hole playoff after they had tied on the regulation thirty-six holes. On Saturday Pretty won the club's junior crown.

Pretty and Randall were deadlocked with 155 after the first two rounds. Randall missed a two-foot putt on the thirty-sixth for a birdie three which would have given him the medal. A playoff then became necessary. Pretty had a sweet 75 in the morning but dropped to 80 in the afternoon, while Randall shot consistent golf for 78 and 77.

In the playoff Pretty took a three-stroke lead on the first two holes and was never behind, although Randall reduced the margin to one stroke at the fifth. Pretty got one back at the seventh when Randall took a six, and they halved the last two holes.

HAMPERED BY WIND

The afternoon wind made for high scores generally and the medalists shot ten strokes worse than the score which was low last year.

Bob Morrison, the club champion, played under the serious handicap of skinned knuckles, but registered a creditable 160 to qualify easily.

R. L. Challoner, D. A. Macdonald and W. Pomeroy played off for the last qualifying places, with the first two gaining the select group. Three of the first four to qualify were juniors.

Senators Keep Up Win Streak; Rated Threat To Yanks

Washington Club Defeat Athletics 5 to 4 With Grove Pitching

Homers Feature Win By New York

Giants Take Lacing From Braves as Boston Continues Sensational Rise

If the western clubs of the American League can do their bit toward helping out Washington Senators this month, it looks as if there might be some tough sledding ahead for New York Yankees.

In their recent series they took four out of five games from New York, the only ones the Yankees have lost in fifteen starts, and they climbed into a tie with Chicago White Sox for second place in the standing.

Yesterday Senators beat Philadelphia Athletics and the great Lefty Grove, 5-4, in a twelve-inning struggle.

The Yankees protected their hold on first place by cleaning up Boston Red Sox in a doubleheader, 11 to 2 and 8 to 3. Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri hit two homers apiece and Babe Ruth one, his fifth.

WHITE SOX BEAT CLEVELAND

The White Sox clung to their second place tie when Paul Gregory held Cleveland Indians to six hits to win 3 to 1. Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns slugged it out all the way through a twin bill and broke even. The Browns pounded four flingers for seventeen hits and took the opener, 11 to 8. Detroit took the second, 5 to 1.

Boston Braves, climaxing a sudden rise from the National League cellar, beat New York Giants twice, 3 to 0 and 8 to 4.

Brooklyn Dodgers had a big inning and gave the Phillies their fifth straight licking, 6 to 3. They piled hits on top of walks to score six runs in the sixth inning.

Chicago Cubs, plus Rogers Hornsby, took a double header from St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 5 and 5 to 3.

GARRISON DRAWS WITH NANAIMO

Ruggers Play 3-3 Draw in Exhibition Game at Robins Park Saturday

Nanaimo, May 1.—Victoria Garrison and Nanaimo City ruggers played a 3 to 3 draw here Saturday in an exhibition game at Robins Park. The game was stubbornly contested, the teams being evenly matched. Nanaimo had the better of the opening stages, penning the soldiers in their own territory. Both teams were awarded penalty kicks but failed to score. After some mid-field play, Turner made a fine run for the Garrison, being tackled on the line. Nanaimo attacked and Gordon nearly dribbled through just before the interval whistle. Resuming, Nanaimo raided, but the play returned to mid-field.

Turner again broke away, but was tackled and had his shirt torn clean off his back. The forwards of both teams dribbled well. After ten minutes' play Easterbrook intercepted a pass and dashed over, giving the locals the lead. He failed to convert. Both teams attacked alternately, with some hard fighting on the line. With two minutes to go Victoria scored, Eastick going over for a good try. The try was not improved. Score, Nanaimo 3, Victoria Garrison 3. Normanton of Victoria refereed a good game.

Grip in Putting Aids Touch Sense

By JOE GLASS

Yesterday's article showed how stars like Tommy Armour, Macdonald Smith, George Von Elm and Johnny Farrell put the thumbs of their right hand upon the top of the shaft for putting, seeming to direct the clubhead in the forward swing with the right thumb and forefinger.

The thing that makes this more apparent is the fact that they have the tip of the right thumb against the shaft. And here we come to the crux of the putting grip. Firm tension of the fingers must be lessened upon the shaft, so that the sense of touch will be encouraged. The above mentioned stars all get the ends of their fingers upon the shaft, and that not too tightly.

Grip with the whole of the fingers for long shots, but get the finger tips in position for the putt.

Aitcheson scored two foul shots given against Little. Joe Ross went in for Tommy. Butcher put the Alumni 11 to 9 up with a splendid field goal from under the basket on a pass from King and scored seconds later on Aitcheson's rebound.

Craig and Ross pulled the Ribbons up with converted foul shots, the former sinking two. Sherman went in for Goldman.

PRETTY BASKET

Don King went through and scored to push the Windsor boys up to 15 to 12, and then missed a free shot. Aitcheson scored on a pretty out of bounds play. McKeown went in for Chuck Chapman and Sluggett replaced Craig.

Patrick brought the Ribbons within two points of the Alumni with a lovely one-handed shot from the side, to make the count read 17 to 15 for the easterners.

Butcher sank a free throw and Ross missed when he was given a foul shot for Sherman's charge.

Aitcheson ran the count up to 20 to 15 on a foul goal when A. Chapman held him under the basket.

PLAYING CAREFULLY

GOOD BASKET

Art Chapman took a pass from Muzz Patrick near centre and dribbled through for a good basket. J. Stewart missed a free throw and then took a pass from Butcher to sink a long one-handed shot to boost the score to 26 to 20 for the Alumni.

Craig netted a free throw and then had a foul called against him for charging. Stewart missed, but made up for it seconds later with a basket on Goldman's pass. Little went in for Ross.

Windsor began to ring the hoop rapidly, Goldman put in two free throws and ran in to score from in front of the basket, while Butcher added another field goal from Stewart's rebound.

Stewart missed a free throw just before McKeown went in for Little and Aitcheson replaced Stewart.

DRAW OUT DEFENCE

McKeown snared another basket for Victoria on a long side court floater before Goldman raised the visitors total to 35 to 23 by converting two fouls.

There was little interest in Saturday's games as the final line-up of top positions was cut and dried a week ago. A small crowd saw McPhail start Rangers off to victory with a brace of tallies. Fleming and Marshall followed him, while D. Wilson and King scored for the losers. McFadyen's hat trick for Motherwell was a fine ending for this smart forward's season. Ferrier scored Motherwell's fourth goal and Armstrong tallied Cowdenbeath's single.

HEARTS THIRD

Hearts ended in third place, nine points behind Motherwell, and gained a 2 to 1 victory over St. Johnstone in the final game. White and Walker got Hearts's goals, while Ritchie tallied for St. Johnstone.

Hibernians finished so far in front of the second division that there was no doubt of the issue two week ago. Queen of the South won second honors because Dunfermline, in third place, lost to King's Park, 2 to 1. Queen of the South was idle.

10 Cent Ball—No Signature—Babe

By AL DEMAREE

If there is one thing that Babe Ruth hates in addition to dubbing a tee shot or being given a base on balls, it is for some admiring fan to ask him to sign one of those ten-cent boy's balls they sell in drug stores.

Gene Conley, one of Ruth's closest friends, usually dose not make this mistake, but his brother wanted an autographed baseball, and as it was night, the sporting goods stores were closed, so it had to be a drug store ball.

Wins Medal For Lion Fight

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—It is not often that one finds a "human story" in the austere pages of the official London Gazette.

But there is certainly one in the announcement that the King has approved the posthumous award of the medal of the Civil Division of the Order of the British Empire, for gallantry, to the late Reginald Henry Montague Gray, clerk to the Magistrate of N'gamiland, Bechuanaland.

"Mr. Gray, who had as his only weapon an empty shotgun, without hesitation clubbed the lion which had attacked his companion, until the gun broke.

"He then tried, while kicking the animal, to pull it away with his hands. The lion was eventually shot by a third person.

"Mr. Gray died a few days later as a result of shock."

Duncan Native Sons Win Island Final of Province Cup Series

Defeat Jokers 5 to 1 in Match at Athletic Park After Slow Start

THISTLES AND CITY IN DRAW

Junior Cup Won By Royal Oak Juniors; Saanich Downs Esquimalt

Duncan Native Sons won the Vancouver Island final of the Province Cup football series at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon, handing the Jokers a 5 to 1 defeat. By their victory, Duncan enter the first round proper along with the mainland clubs, and the winner of the series will represent British Columbia in the Connaught competition for the Dominion championship.

The up-islanders were full value for their win and in the latter stages of the first half and throughout the entire second period dominated play. The Jokers managed to grab the lead after seven minutes' play, when Claude Bissell took a pass in front of the goal and beat McDonald, in the Duncan nets, with a hard drive that just grazed past the post. Duncan exerted pressure and only ten minutes had elapsed when they tied the count on a pretty snap shot by Dick Thorne. It was not long after that Dominic Joe put Duncan in the lead with a shot from close quarters that Wensley had no chance to block.

HAVE MARGIN

Although kicking against the wind and with the sun in their eyes, Duncan hemmed the Jokers in their own half for practically the entire second half. George made the score 3 to 1 by converting a cross from Sylvester. Soon after Preston made it 4 to 1, and Thorne added the visitors' fifth goal to put the game on ice.

McMillan refereed.

GAME DRAWN

In the double header staged by the Coast League at the Heywood Avenue grounds on Saturday afternoon the Saanich Thistle and Victoria City first division clubs battled to a scoreless deadlock in an Injured Players' Cup match, while the Combination Cup second division game resulted in a 2 to 1 win for the Saanich Thistles over Esquimalt.

The first division match was a closely fought affair, with both goalies being subjected to dangerous attacks but no scoring resulted.

In the second division fixture Esquimalt obtained a one-goal lead in the first half on a score by Evans. Saanich rallied in the final period and a pair of goals by McCaig gave them a win.

ROYAL OAK WINS

Royal Oak juniors captured the final of the Lower Mainland Junior Cup at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon, defeating the Jokers 2 to 1. The match was played as a preliminary to the Duncan-Jokers engagement.

The Oaks went into the lead when Jack Payne scored halfway through the first half, following a corner kick. Musgrave equalized for the Jokers just before half-time.

Royal Oak — W. Robbins, Griffin, Stofer, Retherington, G. Robbins, Gibson, G. Payne, J. Payne, Hallket, Pollard and Hodgson.

Wheat Down Fraction When Profit Taking Features Mart To-day

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Man., May 1—Pounded by an all-session-long-profit-taking selling, wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Market slipped steadily from two cent opening advances to close fractionally lower to-day.

The finish was ¼-⅛ cent below the previous close. The prices were: May future at 59¼, July 60⅝ to ¾ and October 62⅝ to ¾ cents.

Failure of further export sales to materialize also was a depressing factor and the buoyancy at the opening which had sent values soaring was soon lost, heavy liquidation in the May option, which matures this month, accelerated the decline.

The market was highly nervous throughout. Trading tended to drag after the opening flurry with traders unwilling to commit themselves on either side of the market. Only small, scattered export sales were confirmed by exporters. These did not reflect in the market's operations.

The opening bulge of as much as 2 cents was soon lost as cautious traders cashed in on their profits of Saturday's 4 cent upswing and some hedging sales from elevators were also encountered.

World wheat shipments for the past week totaled more than 12,000,000 bushels, of which 5,250,000 bushels was of North American origin. Supplies of wheat and flour on ocean passage to Europe decreased about 750,000 bushels and stocks now total 40,750,000 bushels.

Cash grains again were dull throughout. Coarse grains, however, were fairly active, with flax futures featuring that market.

LISTINGS RISE AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, May 1.—In sympathy with the upturn in New York, the Montreal Stock Exchange listings to-day were stronger at the close.

International Nickel finished the day off 15 cents at 15.75. Consolidated Smelters lost a point at 93 while Hollinger was 15 cents higher at 8.90.

Canadian Pacific Railway surged upward at the close, finishing the day at 14⅝, a gain of 1⅜ points. Brazilian Traction was up ⅝ at 10¼. Montreal Traction was up ⅝ at 10¼. Montreal Power lost 1 at 31.

Dominion Bridge was ¾ higher at 18½. Canada Cement preferred gained points at 23, while the common was up ¾ at 4⅞.

TORONTO MINES HOLD STEADY

Toronto, May 1.—The Standard Mining market held to an even keel to-day the only flurry of any account appearing in the first half hour when Nickel was taken up to 16.25 and some of the other base metals showed strength, including Sudbury Basin, Pend Oreille, and Falconbridge. Gold shares held steady and silvers closed slightly stronger.

Buying was fair in Lake Shore which pulled up about half a dollar to $36. Hollinger was up a few cents to 8.90, Bralorne was strong around $5 and Teck-Hughes and Wright Hargreaves made little headway. Cheaper golds hardly moved from Saturday's closing prices.

After getting up to $95, Smelters met profit-taking and dropped back to $93. Profit-taking also put Nickel back a little after nicking off the morning advance. Coast Copper was stronger at 3.25 and Sherritt up one to 56.

NUDIST ISLAND CLAIMS $99,500

Counsel For Mrs. Harvey Rates Damages Because of Doukhobor Penal Colony

Government Would Pay Only $420 a Year For Three Years

Instead of the $420 a year the Dominion Government is willing to pay as rent for Piers Island, now used as the outdoor penitentiary for Doukhobor nudists, C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for Mrs. J. S. Harvey, owner of the island, is asking $4,000 a year. This is the claim filed with the court, which will come from Ottawa for a session here during the first week in June.

Besides the rental, which would be for three years on the basis of the term for which the Doukhobors were sentenced, Mr. O'Halloran is asking from the government for Mrs. Harvey the sum of $25,000 for depreciation to Peirs Island because of the presence of Doukhobors there and through having it listed as a penal colony. For the timber which the government is claiming the right to cut on Piers Island during the Doukhobor occupancy, Mr. O'Halloran is claiming $37,500, but is willing to abandon this claim if the government officials and the Doukhobors do not cut any timber. He points out that the timber on the island is one of its main assets because of its beauty and protection for moisture.

In addition to Piers Island, Mrs. Harvey owns the nearby Knapp Island, which is the site of the country home of the late Col. J. S. Harvey and now occupied by Mrs. Harvey. The island has fine beaches and is a fisherman's salt-water paradise. The presence of the nudists just across the narrow channel of water on Piers Island and the constituting of it as a penitentiary colony, has impaired the fishing possibilities and damaged the value of Knapp Island by $25,000 and Mr. O'Halloran is asking compensation from the government for Mrs. Harvey to this extent.

Altogether, if the court allows the total claims of Mr. O'Halloran, including the rental for three years at $4,000, Mrs. Harvey will receive from the government $99,500.

Gordon A. Cameron, as counsel for the federal penitentiary, is opposing Mr. O'Halloran's claims, on the grounds that they are too high and that all the taxpayers should be called upon pay for the use of the island is the rent set by the department at $420 a year. Mr. Cameron asserts that Piers Island will not suffer any intrinsic damage as a result of the stay there of the Doukhobors and that the presence of nudist parades nearby does not detract from the value or the prospect of Knapp Island, either as a country estate and summer resort.

DAIRY GROUP GIVES WARNING

Canadian Press

Chilliwack, B.C., May 1.—Three hundred dairymen, representing all districts between Rosedale and Steveston, yesterday interviewed the three Chilliwack shippers who visited Mayor L. D. Taylor in Vancouver Friday, proposing to sell direct to the city and firmly warned them against any such procedure. The delegation assembled at Sardis and marched to the farm of M. C. Smith, where the ultimatum was served. They then proceeded to the home of T. E. Herron in the city, and thence to the farm of U. B. Cusack on Prairie Central Road.

The three men were told that as long as they shipped in the regular way they would not be molested, but any variation would bring retribution, swift and sure.

The three hundred marchers included representatives of all shipper groups now operating under the new stabilization arrangement whereby independent and co-operative producers are endeavoring to save themselves from being dispossessed of their farms.

Since announcement was made that a number of Chilliwack shippers proposed to break the arrangement by selling direct to the city, feeling throughout the Fraser Valley has been running high.

To Hide Big Ben For 18 Months

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Whenever a bit of London is repaired, somebody is always inconvenienced. It seems inevitable.

They have been building a new underground station underneath Piccadilly and half the roadway has been up for some time. In the middle of the morning you will see a long string of omnibuses queueing up to file through the narrow bottle-neck left in the roadway. It is very annoying for the people with appointments to keep.

Now Big Ben is to go into retirement for eighteen months for repairs. Some of the stonewrok is defective and must be replaced, so a giant scaffolding will soon envelop the best-known tower in the empire, and if we want to know the time by Big Ben we shall have to listen until it chimes. It is hoped that the bells, at least, will not be obscured by the scaffolding.

HOME BUILDING, INSURANCE UP

Special to The Times

Minneapolis, May 1.—Home building showed an encouraging gain in March, a gain which was by no means entirely seasonal, according to the monthly consumer index compiled by Investors Syndicate. A 35.6 per cent increase was registered over the February showing, in contrast to the 1932 figures which indicated a slight decline from February to March.

Insurance written during March gained over February, being 5.1 per cent up against a decline in the corresponding months last year of 8.2 per cent.

Due to the bank holiday, other factors in the economic picture tied more closely to the bank structure made a less favorable showing. Security investments in that month were notably off, paving the way for the great interest since shown. Security investments in March were less than a tenth of those in March, 1932.

A seriously unfavorable factor, Investors Syndicate points out, was the decline in wages, the totals declining 8.2 per cent from the preceding month—an abrupt drop—and 30.7 per cent off from last year. It is perhaps this definite indication of the results of deflation which has caused the administration to press for action of a reflationary nature.

GANDHI WILL FAST AGAIN

Says He Will Eat No Food From May 8 For Three Weeks

Associated Press

Poona, India, May 1.—The aged and frail Mahatma Gandhi announced from the Yeroda jail to-day that on May 8 he would begin another fast, this time a "three-week unconditional irrevocable fast" in connection with his campaign against untouchability and the caste system.

In an interview the Mahatma denied the fast was a part of a deep political move. "It is a process of self-purification," he said simply.

Gandhi, who has been serving an indefinite term since his arrest on January 4, 1932, in connection with his passive resistance campaign, refused to give any definite reason for the decision.

Observers here who saw the Mahatma after his one-week fast last September fear the three-week fast will mean certain death for him.

They interpret the decision as an expression of the Mahatma's dissatisfaction with the progress of efforts of high caste Hindus to remove untouchability and his conviction that the untouchables (the lower classes) themselves are not yet confident high caste Hindus will "play the game."

CHEQUE TAX IS ON NEW BASIS

Henceforth Throughout Canada Amounts Below $5 as Well as Above Pay 3 Cents

Ottawa, May 1.—Two of the additions to taxes imposed under the budget, announced in the Finance Minister's speech in the Commons March 21, came into effect throughout Canada to-day.

One is the three-cent excise tax on "commercial paper." All tax exemptions on cheques are removed, with the exception of cheques drawn in favor of farmers by butter or cheese factories. Previously, only cheques in excess of $5 had to carry the excise tax. The new tax is being imposed without regard to the amount named in the cheque.

Another form of the same tax effective to-day is that which provides for its imposition on postal notes at the rate of three cents.

In British Columbia May Day brought the new meal tax into operation. All meals in public places costing 50 cents and up carry a 5 per cent tax.

Lower beer prices also came into effect in British Columbia to-day. The price of bottled beer on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland was reduced to $1.75 a dozen pints in liquor stores and to $1.50 on telephone orders to the purchaser having a dozen empty bottles to return.

Throughout Canada the interest rate on savings deposits in the bank was reduced by ½ per cent to-day.

The tremendous quantities of sea fish taken by Canadian fishermen are indicated by such figures as the following from 1932 statistics: herring, 175 million pounds; cod, 128 million pounds; salmon, 120 million pounds; pilchards, eighty-eight million pounds, and lobsters, forty-eight million pounds.

Victoria Yacht Club Plans Active Season

Commodore F. A. Lindsay Re-elected at Annual Meeting Saturday; Other Officers Chosen

Hope to Start Activities May 24; Vote of Sympathy to Family of Late Secretary

Yachting circles in Victoria will be as active as ever this year, and it is hoped to officially open the season May 24, it was announced at the annual meeting of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club at the Cadboro Bay clubhouse, Saturday evening, when Commodore F. A. Lindsay was returned leader of the local yachtsman by acclamation. The managing committee will meet Thursday evening to discuss the opening date and to appoint a permanent secretary.

Other officers elected Saturday were: Dr. Thomas Mercer, vice-commodore; Cliff Adams, rear-commodore, and N. P. Blandy, fleet-measurer. Elected to the managing committee for the year were: H. A. Tomalin, F. J. O'Reilly, Ben B. Temple, W. T. M. Barrett, Dr. W. J. Gibson, George Wallace, Humphrey Golby and Major W. H. Langley. From this number the sub-committees will be chosen on Thursday evening.

Commodore Lindsay gave a brief resume of the 1932 yachting activities. They had been most successful, he said, and the club is looking forward to an equally successful season this year. F. C. Adams reported for the house committee; Dr. Mercer for the motorboat committee and Mr. Adams for the reconstruction committee. In this report was told the repairs that had been made to the club property following the damage wrought by the winter gales. A new gangway and float have been erected, and when funds allow a new dinghy will be built.

A vote of sympathy was passed to the family of the late Major W. W. Rowson, for many years the genial general secretary of the club. It was in respect of his memory that the annual meeting was postponed a month this year. Since Major Rowson's passing, H. A. Tomalin has been looking after the secretarial duties of the club.

There were fifty-one members present at the annual meeting. They included Capt. James Griffiths of Seattle, a member of the local club, who came over to Cadboro Bay Saturday afternoon in his yacht Sueja III. He commended the local club members for their fine work in repairing the damaged float and gangway.

Commodore Lindsay is starting his fourth term as head of Victoria yachtsmen. He has been one of the most popular and hard-working commodores since the club was started. An enthusiastic sailor, he is master of the handsome yacht Aileen, and on veterans' sailing day he usually sits at the tiller of one of his daughters' dinghies, the Helen or the Margaret.

BOWSER FLAYS EXTRAVAGANCE

Province's Condition Worse Since Premier Tolmie Took Office, He Says

Trail, May 1.—A non-party campaign for the forthcoming provincial election was launched at Trail and Rossland Saturday by W. J. Bowser, K.C., former Conservative premier; Dugald Donaghy, former Liberal Finance Minister, and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, former Liberal member for Nanaimo.

T. L. Bloomer, Labor leader of long standing in the interior, was chairman of the meeting. Emphasizing the opinion that the day of political parties in British Columbia was ended, the speakers pictured the financial plight of the province, and outlined their means of dealing with conditions.

Dr. Hall pictured the increasing public debt and widening of the gap between expenditure and revenue.

Mr. Donaghy put forward the establishment of efficiency in the management of provincial affairs as a means of reducing interest costs and so making money more easily available to industry.

Mr. Bowser described his plans for relieving municipal burdens. The last Liberal administration had been defeated because of its extravagance, he said, but under the Conservative government, sent in to remedy the situation, the province was in a worse condition than when Premier Tolmie took office, Mr. Bowser declared. Declaring his intention to bend his efforts toward reduction of public debt and of taxes, Mr. Bowser added his proposal, if elected, to call in municipal representatives for a round-table conference aimed at easing their burdens and placing provincial-municipal financial relations on an equitable basis.

ON LONE TRIP FROM HONOLULU

Seattle, May 1.—Capt. Thomas Drake, lone sea rover of Seattle, is expected to arrive off Cape Flattery to-day in his thirty-seven-foot schooner Progress, after a voyage from Hawaii. Capt. Drake sailed from Honolulu April 4 and George Broom, the waterfront's veteran sailmaker and rigger, who is a friend of the vagabond voyager, says he should show up to-day off the Cape.

After meeting old friends on the waterfront and a visit to his former home at Stanwood, Capt. Drake will set out on another cruise to some far distant land.

One of Captain Tom's most famous trips was in the tiny schooner Pilgrim in which he sailed before he built the Progress. He voyaged from Seattle to Kiel, Germany, making the passage in fifty-one days.

FOUR-MASTED SCHOONER TO SAIL TO FAR NORTH

Seattle, May 1.—In a romantic four-masted schooner built at Port Blakeley forty years ago and sailed by his father in the same route, Capt. John Backland, Seattle master mariner and former University of Washington student, will leave this port May 15, beginning his sixth trading cruise to the Arctic.

Captain Backland's fore-and-after rigged vessel is the C. S. Holmes which was sent down the ways in 1893 and for four decades has been sailing the seas. The coming voyage of the Holmes will be her sixteenth in the Arctic trade. The vessel to-day will be towed to the Todd Shipyards where she will be cleaned and painted and made ready for her voyage to the land of the midnight sun.

TO LOAD HOUSES

The four-master will load at Pier 5, where she will lift trading supplies and two portable houses, one for a prominent Eskimo resident of the Arctic rim of Alaska and one for Charles H. Brower, who has been a trader at Point Barrow, the farthest north settlement under the United States flag, for nearly fifty years, and is an old-time friend of Captain Backland.

Brower will sail from Seattle for Nome en route to Point Barrow on the second trip of the Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria this summer, taking with him his two daughters who are now in school in California. They will go from Nome to Point Barrow by airplane.

The C. S. Holmes, as part of her cargo, will have foundation blocks of cement weighing nine tons for a new wireless station at Point Barrow. Rupert Broom, eighteen years old, son of George Broom, veteran sailmaker and rigger, will be the vessel's supercargo.

ALASKA TRADER

Granville Broom, Rupert's elder brother, went to the Far North last year on the C. S. Holmes and is now at Shungnak, 400 miles up the Kobuk River in Northern Alaska, where he is associated with Archie Ferguson, Alaska trader.

Captain Backland's schooner will call at Deering, a village at the mouth of the Immachuk River, on the south shore of Kotzebue Sound and east of Cape Deceit, where the skipper and owner of the vessel established a new trading post last year.

The C. S. Holmes will wing her way through Unimak Pass to St. Lawrence Island in Bering Sea where she will make her first call. She is expected to complete her 3,800-mile voyage under sail to Point Barrow by August 5. The vessel will be laden with a large variety of trading supplies which Captain Backland will use in bartering with the Eskimos of the Far North for furs, ivory and skins.

B.C. MEAL TAX IN FORCE TO-DAY

Eaters on Trains and Boats As Well As at Lunch Counters Subject to New Levy

Collection Is By Stamps; Rate Runs From 3 Cents to 5 Per Cent

Tax on meals of 50 cents or more was placed in force to-day by officials of the Provincial Government, operating under Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance.

Trains, coastwise boats will be subject to the tax as well as restaurants, hotels and lunch counters.

Collection is made through stamps issued through government agencies and the Provincial Police. These stamps must be affixed to meal checks. A special set of forms must be used by the meal seller for accounting in connection with the tax.

Mr. Jones announces the tax as follows:

Meals 65 to 80 cents, tax 4 cents.
Meals 85 cents to $1, tax 5 cents.
Meals $1.05 to $1.20, tax 6 cents.
Meals $1.25 to $1.40, tax 7 cents.
Meals $1.45 to $1.60, tax 8 cents.
Meals $1.65 to $1.80, tax 9 cents.
Meals $1.85 to $2.00, tax 10 cents.
Meals over $2, tax 5 per cent.

A ruling by Mr. Jones sets out that soft drinks and other incidentals supplied with a meal will count on the meal check if served at the table or counter, but tobacco and similar purchases apart from the meal will not count.

Mr. Jones expects the tax will raise $225,000. After paying salaries of the officials and investigating staffs appointed to look after the tax and its collection, the residue will be distributed among the hospitals of the province to make up for the $225,000 ordinary grants from other sources cut off by the provincial government.

VESSELS LEAVE FOR SOUTH SEAS

Montreal, May 1.—Four Canadian ships left Montreal Thursday and Friday of last week with heavy cargoes for Jamaica, the eastern group of the British West Indies, Puerto Rico, British Guiana, Australian ports and New Zealand ports.

They were the Cavelier, the Colborne, the Canadian Conqueror and the Canadian Challenger, of the Canadian National Steamships. Each represented the first departure of the 1933 season on its particular route. Though it is early to form a definite idea of cargoes to be carried during the summer season, there is indication that all four routes will attract large shipments of Canadian goods in return for tropical and Antipodean imports.

The next cargo to leave Montreal after the four freighters have sailed will be taken by the passenger liner Lady Somers, which leaves Wednesday for Bermuda, the Bahamas and Jamaica, with transshipment at Jamaica for British Honduras. She will be the first passenger liner of the season from Montreal to the Caribbean, though the Colborne, a freighter, took a score of "vagabond cruise" passengers when she left Friday evening.

Japanese Freighter Is Fastest On Run

Ss. Kosei Maru Will Cross North Pacific From Yokohama to Seattle in 11 Days

Will Average Sixteen and a Half Knots as Regular Cruising Speed

Seattle, May 1.—R. Konno, manager here for the United Ocean Transport Company, said to-day that Japanese builders constructing the motorship Kosei Maru for the transpacific service of the line have achieved a freighter capable of plying between Seattle and Yokohama in eleven days.

The new craft will be the fastest straight cargo carrier on the northern route, he said, logging sixteen and one-half knots as her regular cruising speed. Her maiden voyage was to Australia, and she will arrive here early in June for regular service. She proved her qualities on her maiden voyage to Australia, shortly after her completion last month, and will be inspected with interest by Seattle waterfront men on her arrival here early in June on her maiden voyage in this trade.

The Kosei Maru was constructed by the Mitsubishi Dockyards at Nagassaki for Hiroumi and Company of Osaka, and will be a regular unit of the United Ocean Transport. Full details are lacking, except that she is a sister ship of the Koryu Maru, well known here, but is of slighty greater tonnage, being 10,100 tons dead weight as compared to the 10,050 tons of the Koryu Maru.

The United Ocean Transport Company has been particularly busy with four ships on the range. Of the quartette, two, the Taigen Maru, which loaded part cargo here and completed at British Columbia, and the Koshin Maru, loading full at British Columbia only, sailed yesterday for Japan. The Koryu Maru, which recently loaded part cargo here, is completing in British Columbia and will sail early in May, while the Yojin Maru, now loading lumber at Willapa Harbor, will complete a full cargo at Grays Harbor, also sailing early next month.

Seaman Suing P. Ss. Company

Seattle, May 1.—Hearing on the $10,000 suit of George Mickel, twenty-three, against the Pacific Steamship Company for injuries sustained when a slingboard dropped on his left foot in the hold of the Ss. Admiral Watson in the Three Saints Bay, Alaska, July 24, 1931, is slated to open in superior court this afternoon.

The steamship company's answer declared Mickel accepted $74 August 18, 1931, for a full release of his claim. Mickel, a messman, countered with the reply that "if any release was signed" it was executed while he was a minor and he believed the release was a receipt for compensation. The facts of Mickel's complaint were laid before a judge when his father, L. W. Mickel, was made his guardian.

Passenger Ships Due During Week

This week will be another busy one along the waterfront. Commencing this evening with the arrival from the Orient of the President Jefferson and from California of the Ruth Alexander there will be a good number of deep-sea freight and passenger liners in port, both inbound and outbound.

The Ruth is due at Rithet Piers this evening at 10 o'clock with fifty passengers and fifty tons of general cargo for Victoria.

On Saturday four passenger liners will be here. In the morning the Santa Lucia will be here from New York and way ports. In the afternoon the Empress of Russia and the President Jefferson will be here on their way to Orient ports and in the late evening the Emma Alexander will be in port bound for California ports.

On her way across the Pacific to Victoria and Vancouver, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan sailed from Yokohama on Friday afternoon. After a call at Honolulu on Thursday of this week she will arrive here Tuesday morning, May 9, with a large list of passengers.

SAILOR SUES SHIP COMPANY

Seattle, May 1. — Damages of $25,000 are sought in a complaint filed in Superior Court Saturday by Bert Haffney against the American Mail Line.

Haffney charged that on May 6, while a member of the engine room crew of the transpacific liner President Jefferson he was at work in a "drive shaft alley" when the roll of the ship threw him against unprotected gears. He complained that his hand was injured.

BIBLE PARTY TO MAKE TRIP

No Bar, No Dancing, But Bible Study Three Times a Day on Ss. Transylvania

Montreal, May 1.—The second annual cruise to the West Indies of the American Bible Association has just been announced, which will sail on the Cunard-Anchor liner Tuscania, leaving New York on June 24.

The rigid regulations which applied on last year's cruise on the Transylvania will obtain on this year's adventure as well. There will be no bars open, no dancing, and Bible study meetings will be held three times a day. It is presumed that the shore excursion in Nassau and Havana will be of the same subdued character. Over 600 passengers took advantage of last year's cruise and this year's schedule holds a strong appeal for people who do not care to embark on the livelier type of cruises.

The Bible study meetings on board ship will be accompanied by hymn singing and short talks. Among the speakers will be Arno C. Gaebelein, editor of Our Hope; Captain Reginald Wallis, secretary of the Dublin, Ireland, Y.M.C.A.; William Allan Dean, one of the editors of Revelation; Donald Grey Barnhouse, editor of Revelation, nationally known radio preacher, and pastor of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia; Isaac Page, missionary speaker and writer; George W. Rhoad, deputy general director of the Sudan Interior Mission; Erling C. Olsen, widely-known preacher.

Homer Hammontree, the well-known gospel song leader, will have charge of the singing, with Paul Beckwith as accompanist.

A complete amplifying equipment will be installed, making it possible for the entire cruise complement to participate in the meetings.

The usual shipboard activities will be featured between the religious services, while ashore in Nassau and Havana there will be numerous sight-seeing excursions.

C.P.R. RESORTS OPEN JUNE 23

A. H. Devenish on Coast In Connection With Hotel Season in Canadian Rockies

Canadian Pacific hotels and resorts in the Rocky Mountains will be opened for the 1933 season June 23, it was announced to-day by A. H. Devenish, assistant general manager, C.P.R. western hotels, Winnipeg, who is at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Mr. Devenish arrived in the city yesterday from the east in connection with the approaching opening of the mountain resorts.

A good season is expected at the Banff Springs Hotel and Lake Louise Chateau, a large number of reservations having been made by parties intending to visit these points in the Canadian Rockies.

Both the Banff and Lake Louise hotels, as well as the Emerald Lake Chalet and the company's bungalow camps, will be opened June 23, Mr. Devenish stated. They will remain open until September.

He expects to remain in Victoria until Wednesday.

Alaska Fares Are Reduced

Marked reduction in round trip and one way fares, approximating 17 per cent, are announced by officials of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Alaska services, effective with the first sailing on the summer schedule on Thursday of this week.

Four large and luxuriously appointed express liners, the Princess Charlotte, Princess Louise, Prince George and Prince Rupert, will handle the sailings, which will be regularly out of Vancouver every Monday or Friday.

According to advance bookings by local offices of both companies, there will be an unusually heavy tourist movement to Alaska this summer, and it is expected that all sailings will show a capacity of near capacity list.
